Revlon President Tops With $1.59 Million

Auto Executives Low On Highest Paid List

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Not one auto industry executive made it on the list of the 15 highest paid U.S. executives for 1974. Revlon President Michel C. Bergerac led the list with total individual compensation of $1,586,000 as the firm rang up sales of $606 million and profits of $50 million in 1974. A survey of executive compensation by Business Week magazine shows most automotive executives trailing their counterparts in 31 other industries. Top automakers' salaries rose 8 per cent over 1973 — but their bonuses were down 85.9 per cent, making their over-all compensation 43 per cent lower. Ford Chairman Henry Ford II and President Lee A. Iacocca, the auto industry's highest-paid executives in 1974, each earned $773,000 less than in 1973 when the firm's profits were 60 per cent higher. The pay cuts left Ford and Iacocca each with $282,000 in salary.

At General Motors, where a 60 per cent profit plunge wiped out cash and stock bonuses, Chairman Thomas A. Murphy received $272,000 in salary — $400,000 less than in 1973 when he was vice chairman. His predecessor, former Chairman Richard C. Gensert, earned $923,000 in salary and bonuses in 1973. GM President Elliott M. Estes earned $236,250 in 1974. His predecessor, former President Edward N. Cole, earned $833,000 in 1973. At Chrysler Corp., which reported a record $32-million loss in 1974, Chairman Lynn Townsend took a $432,000 cut and President John Riccardo's pay was slashed $335,000. But Chrysler's board still granted stock options to Townsend for 80,000 shares and to Riccardo for 50,000 shares. Profits were down only 38 per cent at American Motors, and the AMC executives were the only real winners among the auto executives. AMC Chairman Roy D. Chapin Jr. got a 26 per cent increase, including a $152,000 bonus. President William V. Luneburg got a similar increase, and both got options for 25,000 shares. Chapin wound up with $209,760 in salary and another $152,000 in bonuses, while Luneburg got $176,892 in salary, plus the $152,000 in bonuses. The Business Week survey showed there were many fewer stock options exercised last year, but some executives did profit handsomely when they cashed in their options. Dow Chemical Vice President Earle B. Barnes netted $613,000 when he exercised his options on 16,000 shares. Dow, which had a net profit of $587 million — up 117 per cent over 1973 — paid Barnes $292,000 in salary in 1974, compared with $239,000 the year before. He received $60,000 in bonuses, up from $52,000.

Dow President C.B. Branch received $410,000 in salary in 1974, compared with $348,000 the previous year. He also got $80,000 in bonuses last year — up from $66,000. Burroughs Corp. Chairman Ray W. Macdonald received $250,000 in salary and $250,000 in bonuses in 1974, compared with $205,000 and $200,000, respectively, the year before. Burroughs President Paul S. Mirabito was paid $160,000 in salary and $150,000 in bonuses in 1974. The year before his salary was $123,000 and he received $100,000 in bonuses. Burroughs' 1974 net profit of $143 million was up 23 per cent over 1973. At Clark Equipment Co., where the net profit was $50 million — down nine per cent — President Bert E. Phillips was paid $187,000 in salary in 1973, up from $175,000. His 1974 bonuses totaled $200,000 last year, compared with $180,000 the year before.

Mayaguez Chief Tells Of U.S. Jet Attack

SINGAPORE (AP) — The captain of the Mayaguez said today that U.S. jet fighters gassed and strafed himself and his crew during efforts to prevent a fishing boat from carrying them to the Cambodian mainland.

Capt. Charles T. Miller, of

Mountain View, Calif., gave the account upon arrival of the Mayaguez here today. He said he and the 39 crew members all were burned by fumes as jets twice sprayed the fishing boat with noxious gas as the boat headed toward the Cambodian seaport of Kompong

Som. Miller, 62, said three crewmen were struck by shrapnel as the U.S. planes attacked for about four hours. The captain spoke to newsmen about an hour after the Mayaguez docked at Sembawang containerport.

The captain grew red-eyed and his voice broke as he spoke of the U.S. servicemen who died in the rescue of his crew. The Mayaguez sailed into Singapore with U.S. flags flying and its decks still loaded with the cargo it carried when it was captured by the Cambodians on Monday and held for three days.

"People were being killed to save me," said the captain. "Without our air force, without our Marines, I don't think this crew would be standing before you today."

Miller said the U.S. fighters attacked the fishing boat while it was taking the captured crew to Kompong Som from an island he called Kas Trang on Tuesday.

Miller said the planes first strafed within 150 yards of the fishing boat, then moved to within 70 or 80 yards and finally came as close as 10 feet.

He said five Thai fishermen, piloting the boat, tried once to turn it away from the mainland, but Cambodian guards held guns to their heads and forced them to proceed despite the heavy fire.

The Americans had been ordered into the boat from the Mayaguez.

"I don't blame the planes for whatever they did on the strafing," Miller said. "They were trying to get them to turn around so we would not be taken ashore to be killed or sent to prison in Phnom Penh."

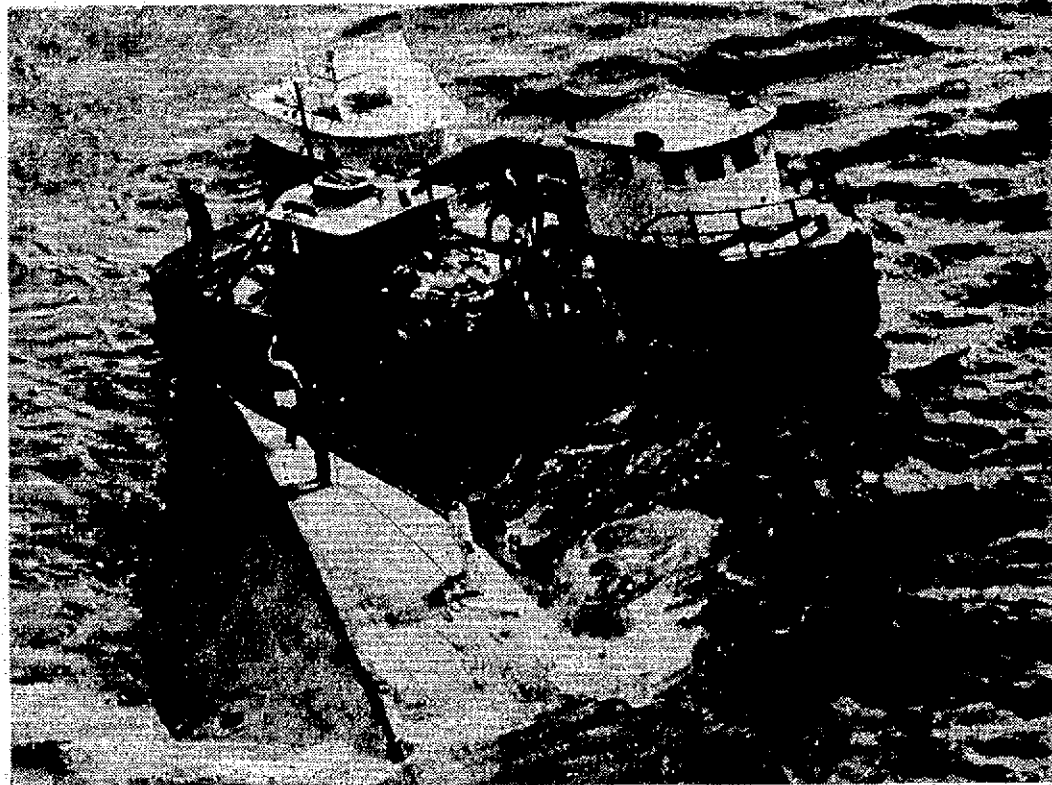

Miller said he guessed the pilots hoped the gas they dropped would overcome the guards and enable the captives to take over the fishing boat.

"It was no use. We were just as gassed as the guards were," the captain said.

The captain said that on Monday at 11:21 a.m. (Cambodian time) a motor torpedo boat fired on the Mayaguez with anti-aircraft guns.

"The final shot was a rocket over my bow."

U-M Grant Was Delayed By 'Administrative Error'

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Federal officials say they've released a research grant to the University of Michigan following a bureaucratic mixup in which the funds were withheld in a discrimination case. Barry Anderson of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, said Friday that an "administrative error" caused HEW to withhold the $485,000 grant from U-M's Highway Safety Research Institute.

U-M officials said Thursday they had been told by HEW that the research grant cutoff stemmed from the university's failure to give HEW information on selection of a new dean.

A black woman, Jewell Cobb, dean of Connecticut College, was the unanimous choice of the U-M Regents for the deanship of the College of Literature, Science & the Arts.

But she failed to get the appointment after U-M's zoology department refused to grant her a tenured professorship.

Following a probe of the incident, U-M's Affirmative Action Committee criticized the university administration and the zoology department.

Nellie Varner, director of U-M's affirmative action program, said Thursday that HEW was investigating the Cobb incident.

The deanship has been unfilled since June 1974.

Hutchinson Won't Let Oil Stock Conflict With Votes

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — Rep. Edward Hutchinson (R-St. Joseph) says he will participate in votes on proposals to break up energy conglomerates although he owns stock in oil and natural gas firms, a television station reported Friday.

The station, WOTV Grand Rapids, said the Republican from Michigan's Fourth District revealed his plans to its Washington reporter.

But Hutchinson refused to discuss the matter on camera and talked about his financial holdings only when the camera was shut off, the station said.

A financial disclosure report required of all congressmen shows Hutchinson owns stock in 12 corporations, five of them dealing in oil or natural gas.

They were listed as Exxon, Standard Oil of Indiana, Sun Oil, Panhandle Eastern Pipeline and Texas Eastern Pipeline.

A second portion of the report disclosing the value of a member of Congress' stock holdings and how much income they provide annually is not made public unless the member does so personally. Hutchinson has not revealed those figures.

Hutchinson said he considers the financial disclosure reports "an invasion" of his privacy and added, "I would not have submitted one if it had not been required by law."

Hutchinson said he sees no conflict between his holdings and his work. No one in his district, he added, ever wrote him to complain of a conflict.

House rules say a member should not vote on any matter in which he has a personal or financial interest. However, there is no procedure for spotting or penalizing violators. Proposals to break up some of the giant firms in the energy industry are expected to go before the House Judiciary Committee this summer. Hutchinson is the ranking minority member of the Judiciary Committee.

'Jackpot' Drawing Monday

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A six-digit "Jackpot Number" will be selected Monday by the state Lottery Bureau as the first step in giving away the $500,000 Triple Play Jackpot.

All Triple Play tickets sold through May 13 qualify for the drawing through the number on the tear-off stub. An exact match will qualify about 10 ticket holders for the Jackpot finals on June 5.

Holders must present them to a claim center or lottery regional office by June 2 to be eligible. One finalist on June 5 will take half the pot — the rest will be split equally.

Winning Number

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The winning number in the Michigan Daily Lottery contest for Saturday, May 17, is four-four-zero, the state Lottery Bureau said Friday.

Richard Conklin Sr., left, and his son Richard, Hartford township, were among families owning land along river to post signs. Among Natural Rivers regulations are those which regulate how land along river can be used by property owners. That kind of control, Conklin said, should be privilege of land owner. Betsy River Yields 31-Pound Brown

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A brown trout catch that exceeds state and Lake Michigan records and almost matches the North American record has been reported by the DNR.

The DNR said Friday that Harvey Pries of Saginaw, fishing at the mouth of the Betsy River in Benzie County on Thursday, hooked a 31-pound, four-ounce brown trout.

The previous state record was 27 pounds, 12 ounces, and the former Lake Michigan record, caught in Illinois waters. The current North American record is 31 pounds, eight ounces.

It was the third trout record reported this week. Charles Bergmann of Charlevoix caught a record 22-pound, nine-ounce lake trout on May 10 near Charlevoix, and Mark Johnson of Lansing that day hooked a 26-pound, eight-ounce rainbow trout offshore at St. Joseph.

U.S. Foreign Policy Needs Unshackling

Except for Senator George McGovern, who given his druthers would bargain away all American authority to foreign powers, the Congressional response to the Navy-Marine rescue of the Mayaguez and its 40 crew members from Cambodia's Khmer Rouge is all praise for President Ford's decisive action.

The military maneuver worked for two reasons: its prompt, bold step, and the failure of the Khmer Rouge to remove the ship and its crew from a highly vulnerable offshore island to some undetectable mainland hideaway.

The plaudits rolling in for the President consequently are an example of cheering a winner and hazing a loser.

Had the rescue mission bogged down Ford would have had all manner of Monday morning quarterbacks questioning his judgment.

The criticism would have welled up that the President openly violated the preamble to the current Defense Appropriations Act which read:

"None of the funds herein appropriated may be obligated or expended to finance directly or indirectly combat activities by U.S. military forces in or over, or from off the shores of North Vietnam, South Vietnam, Laos or Cambodia."

Congress' Democratic majority inserted the limitation as a clear reminder to the White House that Southeast Asia is a lost cause for our country.

For practical purposes one has to agree with the sentiment, but the Mayaguez incident points up the folly in a legislative body trying to pinpoint targets in foreign affairs and then telling the Chief Executive he must aim his guns around a pre-ordained obstacle course.

The clause is much the same as subjecting a police officer to arrest for exceeding the speed limit in his effort to chase down a fleeing criminal.

Had Ford followed the Act to the letter, the Khmer Rouge would have pulled off their intended insult to the U.S.

The bipartisan cheering for the President indicates the Congressmen are forgetting what they wrote. As the Wall Street Journal phrased it, "In other words, Congress' real meaning is, don't undertake any military operations that don't work."

The appropriation's limitation is not only mischievous, it conflicts with the War Powers Act.

This is Congress' definition of what it views the President's authority as the Constitutional commander in chief of the armed forces. The Act gives the President the freedom to act in an emergency of limited duration and requires a prompt report of his action to Congress.

Quite apparently the professional draftsmen hired by Congress failed in their homework and none of their bosses caught the mistake.

Today's Congress is overreacting to Kennedy and, in particular, Johnson hoodwinking its predecessors on the Vietnam excursion, the sourest venture in all history for American military and diplomatic gambits.

The appropriation preamble is an effort to forestall future administration deception of the sort which LBJ pulled in the Gulf of Tonkin resolution. It goes beyond the line of reason.

The Mayaguez seizure is a clear demonstration that a large portion of the globe, most of it really, is ruled by personages who do not play the game under rules laid down for the playing fields of Eton.

Force, deception and intrigue are their stock in trade.

Neither Congress nor anyone else can very well transplant the U.S. to some other place in the atmosphere free from such undesirable influences.

Thirty years ago FDR tried to create the next best substitute for that type of isolation by sponsoring the United Nations. The record of the UN in isolating international terrorism runs something like 0.0001. In truth its performance in fostering gangster behavior is close to being 100.0.

The country would be much better off if Congress would start to assume responsibility for its tangled domestic affairs and stop coaching the White House on how to run the military and foreign policy.

Politicians Won't Give Free Enterprise Chance

When bureaucrats make a mess of things they tend to foist the blame on someone else, and then suggest as a remedy more of the same type of policy which created the mess. That is precisely the formula suggested in the U.S. Senate by Sens. Hubert Humphrey and Jacob Javits to correct the nation's economic problems.

In introducing the "Balanced Growth and Economic Planning Act of 1975," the two senior members of the Joint Economic Committee announced their aim was to "reform" the free market system. They also acknowledged their proposed legislation would touch off "very violent objections" and "one of the most important debates we've ever had on the economic system."

Testifying in behalf of the proposed legislation, Leonard Woodcock, president of the United Auto Workers, stated the basic misconception behind the bill, when he said: "We have lived too long with boom and bust. Experience has taught us that the unseen magic of the so-called free market does not work."

Nonsense. No economic mechanism is as responsive to changing conditions or the needs of the consumer as the free enterprise system. The direct exchange between producer and buyer, each free to compete in other markets but each also subject to the progressive forces of active competition, produces the highest scale of economic efficiency — and consequently the highest living standards.

What is wrong with the free market system in the United States is that its natural reactions and interactions have been so interfered with by government obstacles, taxation, deficit financing and other economic mismanagement that the situation is comparable to a single locomotive trying to pull a fully-loaded 300-car freight train uphill.

The solution, according to those who have helped create the difficulties, is to add still more freight cars.

Cure Needed

Politicians spend more time placing the blame than rectifying the trouble.

QUEEN RUNNERUP IS GRATEFUL

Editor,
Sorry to be a bit late but have been very busy. As Blossomland's Handicapped Queen I wish to express my deep gratitude for the most generous contributions given for votes for me as Michigan's State Handicapped Queen. I did not get to be Michigan's Handicapped Queen but, because of your great generosity I was very close to it. However, out of five finalists I became first runnerup.

I shall never forget the last week of April 1975. The whitecane bowling league hosted the Michigan State Bowling Tournaments at Gersonde's Bowling alley. I did bowl in the singles, doubles, and in a team. I did not win any money or trophies but was on the TV bowling. That is WKZO. And of course went to East Lansing for the NAPH convention choosing of the queen coronation. All of this was possible because of my many extremely loyal friends. Once again many thanks and God's many blessings to all of you.

COMMENTS ON HARTFORD COUNCIL

Editor,
I feel I must comment on the Hartford Council news coverage in this paper, May 13.

In my opinion, what the City Council is doing with the taxpayer's dollars is an absolute farce. FIVE HUNDRED DOLLARS to engage a Paw Paw detective to screen applications for hiring a new Police Chief? According to Sec. 5.6 of the Hartford City Charter, that job is the duty of the Councilmen. What a seemingly irresponsible group of elected officials we now have in office. They were smart enough to fire a good Police Chief without giving a reason or a hearing, but they don't seem to be intelligent enough to be able to hire one! It would be well to make a mental note of this when you go to the polls in November.

Also, I am wondering if the Hartford taxpayers are aware of the fact that $8,170 for the 1973 audit of the city books was, in my opinion, an exorbitant cost and an unnecessary one. If certain elective officials had been performing their jobs efficiently, shouldn't the cost of this audit have been much less? In no way is the cost a reflection on the firm selected to do the auditing.

Four Missing

NANTUCKET, Mass. (AP) — The search continued today for four fishermen missing from a fishing vessel which sank after being rammed by a Liberian merchant ship, 63 miles southeast of here in dense fog.

Two fishermen of the 72-foot fishing boat Eugene H. were rescued by the Liberian bulk carrier after the accident Friday.

Berry's World

Roy Cromley Congress Against Accurate Missiles

WASHINGTON — Sometimes Congress makes no sense at all, either morally, or militarily.

We have the knowhow to develop intercontinental missiles able to zero in precisely on enemy military targets — munitions factories, missile silos, military bases, nuclear production facilities — missiles so accurate they would do limited damage to civilian populations, especially if those populations were even minimally prepared.

Yet, in a cruel travesty on reason and logic, powerful Senate and House leaders, verbally posturing with self-righteous circumlocution — are arguing that the only moral strategic defense is one which depends on our killing in one spasm 25-million to 45-million Russians, and losing in return more than a quarter of all Americans.

The Congressional hypocrites don't say this, of course. They argue that accurate missiles would be destabilizing — inducing the Russians to attack first out of fear.

This is sophistry — plain and unadulterated.

The Russians could not be startled by our drive toward accuracy. They, themselves, are pushing ahead in this field at a remarkable rate. At their present pace, they will be able to make accurate, effective attacks on all U.S. land-based missiles with only a portion of their force, while holding the rest of their land-based units and their missile submarines in reserve for counterattacks on U.S. cities if needed.

Improved U.S. missiles, even if able to hit a fifty cent piece at 7,000 miles, would not be able to destroy Soviet missile-firing submarines. Therefore, these improvements in American guidance could not possibly cause the Russians to fear that an American first strike would destroy their capacity for retaliation.

The fact remains that if we do not develop these superaccurate missiles, and the Russians do attack, even if they only strike at our missile bases and leave our cities intact, then the President of the United States will have no recourse but to bomb Russian cities and destroy Russian civilization and accept the destruction of ours in return — or do nothing.

The Senators and Representatives referred to above argue that the Russians would not strike because we do have this power — with our missile submarines — to destroy the Russians after any attack they make.

The phrase they use is assured destruction.

It's an impressive phrase, and the argument works out mathematically. But in practical terms, assured destruction is a snare and a delusion.

To be effective, assured destruction requires that an American president be willing to push that all-out button, knowing that he would thereby be dooming the United States along with Russia. And it requires, too, that the Kremlin be convinced that the president would, in fact, fire.

Most men in this government whose views I know, including some of the most hawkish types in the Pentagon — as judged from private conversations — refuse to believe that when the test came an American president would call for the destruction of Soviet cities, even if the Russians attacked first. That is unless Moscow had already fired its giant rockets directly at New York, Washington, Chicago, Dallas, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Seattle, Houston, Kansas City and other U.S. population centers.

Jeffrey Hart North Korea Now Flexing Muscles

Allegedly, the U.S. exit from Vietnam, disorderly and ignominious as it was, produced a universal sigh of relief. At last, it was over.

Well, such relief is likely to be very short-lived, for a set of untoward facts are now speeding toward the U.S. ship of state like a spread of torpedoes.

First, during a visit to Peking late last month, North Korean dictator Kim Il Sung delivered a fiery speech in which he declared that his forces would not stand idle in the event of a revolt against the government of South Korea, to which the U.S. has treaty commitments.

Comrade Kim has obviously drawn certain conclusions from the way the Vietnam war ended, viz., that an invasion of South Korea would have little to fear from the paper tiger across the Pacific. We can reasonably expect, therefore, that the North Koreans will manufacture some kind of an incident along the 38th parallel, and, backed by the Soviets and the Chinese, try to push southward.

Second, as a glance at the map indicates, Communist domination of the entire Korean peninsula would have profound strategic implications for Japan, the most important non-Communist "domino" in Asia. Unless Japan immediately rearmied and, probably, also went nuclear, it would be subject to blackmail by the Communist power massed across the relatively narrow Korea Strait. The political consequences would be unforeseeable.

But, third, it is unconceivable that U.S. troops anytime soon will fight in an Asiatic war, or, probably, any war short of one for national survival. If war breaks out in Korea, the likelihood is that a large majority or quite possibly a majority in Congress will effectively block any use of U.S. troops, including the 42,000 already on the scene in South Korea.

Thus, though we have global interests and commitments, our strategic options have been severely limited by the political consequences of the Vietnam debacle.

Perhaps this is not altogether bad. Our totalitarian adversaries do have one clear advantage over us — discipline and staying power. Indeed, for that reason, free societies over a long range of history have been rare and short-lived. But we ourselves have certain advantages, too, perhaps unique in history, and what we now require is a military and strategic doctrine that takes into account those advantages.

It has always seemed to me incongruous to send American ground troops into battle in any prolonged way with the mass peasant armies available to our antagonists. To put it at a cold-blooded minimum — while no minimizing one bit the value of human life — it costs so much more to produce that American soldier, from infancy to maturity, that this placing him at hazard is bad long-range policy.

Any American high school project, whether he comes from Grise Pointe or a ghetto, has much more training invested in him than a peasant with a bag of rice and his Soviet AK-47 automatic weapon.

There follow from these reflections some fairly obvious conclusions. The United States should be primarily an air and sea power. It should immediately focus its resources on developing these branches to a position of pre-eminence, and also the creating superior military technology. We would thus be playing from our special strengths — high levels of education and technological sophistication — and not cooperating in the Communists' favored game down among the rice paddies and the jungle growths.

Nigeria: A $48 Billion Prospect

By MIKE WYNGARDEN
Staff Writer

Twin Cities industries yesterday were offered a chance to grab a slice of a $48 billion Nigerian pie.

Opportunities for business prospects in Nigeria were explained yesterday at a "Focus on Nigeria" seminar at the Ramada Inn, M-139, south of Benton Harbor.

The Hon. Olufemi Ani, counselor of economic affairs of the Nigerian embassy to the U.S., outlined a $48 billion development program Nigeria is planning in the next five years. He emphasized the need for foreign trade and investment to provide both products and the "managerial and technological expertise" the newly-developing country needs.

The $48 billion is slated to improve the African country's housing, transportation, agriculture, industry, education and health programs.

Howard Walker, director of the Office of Nigerian Affairs for the U.S. State department, described Nigeria as "the emerging super power of Africa." He said Twin Cities industries had something to offer the developing nation, although competition from other areas in the U.S. and other nations would be tough.

Walker said over $16 billion has been earmarked for housing improvements and highway construction. He noted that air conditioners were "a necessity" in Nigeria, thus providing a trading opportunity for an appliance manufacturer such as Whirlpool Corp. He also noted that earth movers and graders would be needed for the $10 billion highway construction project, offering a trading prospect to companies like Clark Equipment.

Nigeria, located on the central west coast of Africa, has a population of 64 million. It is the second highest supplier of crude oil to the U.S. and is a pro-American nation that continued to ship oil to the United States during the Arab embargo last year.

No trade agreements resulted from the day-long seminar yesterday as its main purpose was to inform area industries of the opportunities for trade and investment in Nigeria.

"The real action will come from area industries dealing with the Nigerian government," Benton Harbor Mayor Charles Joseph, the organizer of the seminar, said. "I hope that this seminar will at least provide a basis for exchange of information and opportunities that are available between area industries and Nigeria," Joseph said.

The seminar idea took form when Joseph was in Washington D.C. as a special guest of Secretary of State Henry Kissinger. During the meeting, Joseph met with Ani and made plans for the seminar.

Some of the industries represented at the seminar yesterday were Whirlpool Corp., Clark Equipment Co., Benton Harbor Engineering, V-M Corporation, Auto Specialties Manufacturing Co., Madison & Madison, Cleveland, Ohio; and BNS Developers, Chicago, Ill.

Area Growers Are Urged

Put Youths To Work On Farm

Farmers have been given two more weeks to tell the Twin Cities Area Chamber of Commerce summer youth program how many youngsters they want to hire this summer for farm work.

The deadline for return by farmers of chamber job questionnaires has been extended to June 2 due to the late spring and poor grower response, according to Merrill Sperger, vice president and general manager of Skidmore Corp. and chairman of the chamber's summer youth program.

Applications to student jobholders are being distributed in schools in Benton Harbor, Bridgman, Berrien Springs, Coloma, Eau Claire, Lakeshore, St. Joseph, Lake Michigan Catholic and Watervliet, he said.

After applications are complete, they will be returned to the chamber's summer youth office — 312 12th street, Benton Harbor — where growers or businessmen will be able to hire as many young people as needed.

The summer youth office opens May 27 as headquarters for three programs, according to chamber officials: youth for farm work, "Rent-A-Youth" and jobs for youth in business, industry and other facets of the private sector. Meanwhile, those seeking to hire youngsters can call the chamber office on Riverview drive, Benton Harbor.

This season is the second for Rent-A-Youth, which starts June 1. Its meant for youngsters age 12 and over for jobs on a day to day basis in categories such as gardening, raking and mowing, garage and pool cleaning, babysitting, typing, car washing, etc.

Sperger urged growers and businessmen to hire area young people to help make the summer a learning experience for them and keep dollars circulating in the community.

He added summer earnings often make it possible for youngsters to remain in school.

Pair Loses $440 In 2 Robberies

Benton Harbor police investigated an armed robbery early this morning and a strong-arm robbery Friday night.

Both victims in the apparently unrelated holdups were accosted in parking lots. Loot totaled $440.

Bob Chaput, 26, of 5098 Bellwood, Coloma, told police he was robbed at gunpoint of a $100 bill and $130 in smaller denomination bills as he stepped from his auto at Babe's lounge parking lot off Riverview drive, about 1:30 a.m.

Chaput told police the gun was held by one of two men, who took the money, threw down his wallet, then ordered Chaput to pick up the wallet and drive away. Chaput said he drove home to Coloma and they called Benton Harbor police.

A Niles man, John Webster, 38, told Benton Harbor police he was knocked out and robbed of his wallet containing $210. Webster said he was struck while accompanying a woman to the Milner hotel parking lot about 8 p.m. Friday.

Webster was himself arrested several hours later by Berrien sheriff's deputies and booked on a charge of being drunk and disorderly. Deputies said Webster was arrested in Scottsdale. Further details were not immediately available.

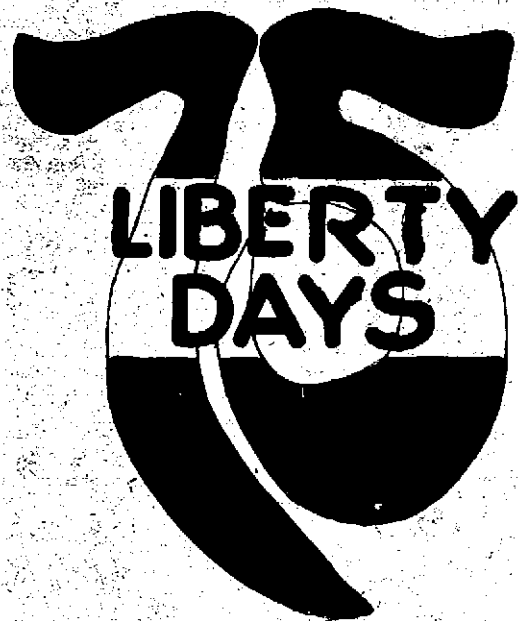

He told city police he left the Milner Pub with a woman. Webster suffered a head cut, but decided to seek his own treatment, police reported. Some time later, a youth reported finding a wallet without money in a grassy area near the lot. The woman's identity is unknown to Webster, police were told.

Benton township police Friday investigated a reported house burglary and soon afterward arrested a man, 18, and a juvenile boy, 16, both of the township.

Booked on charges of breaking and entering were Daniel Jackson Rodgers, 18, of 1135 Highland avenue; and the boy, who was petitioned to juvenile court and remanded to his parents.

The break-in at the home of Darlene Williams, 144 Martin Luther King drive, was reported by a neighbor at 5:40 a.m. Descriptions of two people running from the back door were provided to police.

In vandalism complaints Friday, Herbert Gaede, athletic director at Benton Harbor high school, said a 20 by 40-foot cover to the pool at his home, 280 East Britain avenue, was slashed in two places. Gaede said he removed the cover and found the empty pool littered with

A Benton Heights girl received apparently minor injuries in tumbling Friday night from the back end of an auto, where she had perched herself without the driver's knowledge, according to Benton Harbor police.

Treated for a cut to the head and released from Memorial hospital was Connie Harbison, 14, of 621-Manner road.

The accident occurred about 5:12 p.m. on Salem, just north of Hastings avenue, in Benton Harbor.

The driver, Jeff Meade, 17, of 220 Madeline, Benton township, said he started the car from a standing position and a girl fell from the back end. Meade told police he was unaware anyone was on the back of the auto. No summonses were issued.

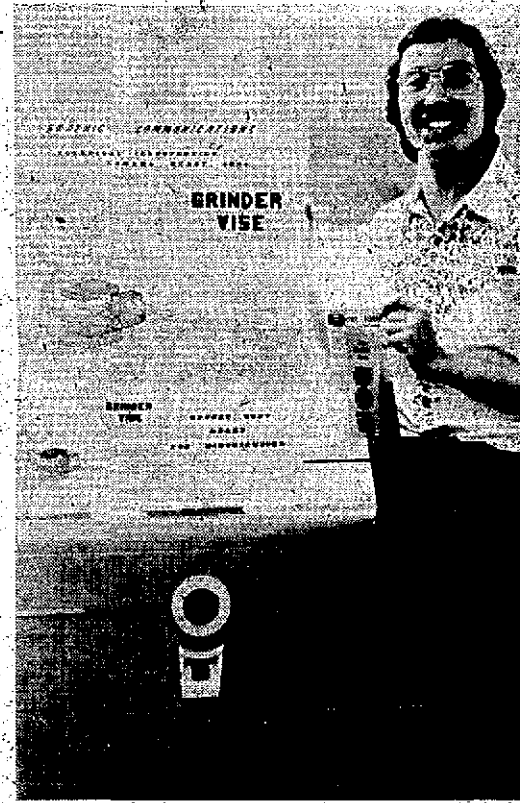

In an I-94 freeway accident inside the Bridgman city limits Friday afternoon, Beverly Brewer, 46, of Glenview, Ill., was injured, but not hospitalized, according to Berrien sheriff's deputies.

Second Baptist Church To Celebrate Centennial

The congregation of Second Baptist church, Benton Harbor, will celebrate the 100th anniversary of the founding of the church Sunday, May 18.

Several events have been planned during May with the major event planned Sunday,

May 18, according to the Rev. Donald Atkins, pastor of the church.

Guest speaker for the 10:45 a.m. worship service will be Dr. J. Paris Wilson, president of the Wolverine State Missionary Baptist Convention, Inc., of which the Benton Harbor church is a member.

At 4 p.m., a musical program is planned. Guest churches and pastors will be the Rev. John Watson, Mount Zion Baptist church, Benton Harbor; the Rev. Earl Young, Macedonia

Baptist church, Battle Creek; the Rev. Claborn Casey, Greater Harvest Baptist church, Muskegon; the Rev. Coleman Gray, St. Mark Baptist church, Benton Harbor; and the Rev. Gilbert Jackson, Second Baptist church, Battle Creek.

Second Baptist church is an outgrowth of a Sunday school that began holding meetings in May of 1873.

The meetings were held at 84 Main street, Benton Harbor, in the block where the Farmers and Merchants National Bank now stands. The location was donated for use by the Sunday school by the Van Dussens, who operated a shoe store in the building. Though the Sunday school was interdenominational, it was predominantly Baptist.

In 1880, a Rev. Cromwell from Canada organized the Sunday school into the first black Baptist church in Benton Harbor. The congregation erected a frame church building on Brunson street. The building soon after burned to the ground.

The congregation was reorganized in 1890 by a Rev. Ferguson of Indianapolis and located on Colfax avenue near Michigan. The congregation later moved to Eighth street.

A Rev. Morris secured enough funds and with free labor built a church at 420 Eighth street in 1893. The first baptismal services were held on the dock at East Main street and ice on the St. Joseph river had to be broken through for the services.

The handmade pews were used by the congregation for many years until the Busy Bee Circle raised funds for new pews. The windows in the church were donated by First Baptist church of Benton Harbor.

Another period of reorganization followed from 1900 to 1935 with several pastors serving the church.

By 1936, the Rev. F.A. Williams became pastor of the church and by 1937 paid off the church indebtedness.

The Rev. W.G. Wilson, who served the church longer than any other pastor, came to the church in 1944. Under his leadership, the church was again reorganized.

In 1956, the Rev. Wilson was planning to build a new church, but instead, the congregation purchased the church at 477 Cherry street, which formerly housed the Bethel Assembly of God, now known as Fairplain Assembly of God.

The congregation remodeled the church and in 1957 laid a new cornerstone in the building at 477 Cherry street.

The old church building on Eighth street became the home of the Benton Harbor Masonic lodge until it was torn down for urban renewal in 1967.

The Rev. Wilson was well known throughout the area and the state. Among his published works was the book, "From Sun-Lit Skies." The Rev. Wilson died in 1966.

The Rev. Donald Atkins became pastor following the Rev. Wilson's death.

During his pastorate, the church was again remodeled and plans were made to build an addition to the church. Instead of building an addition, the congregation purchased the former Benton Harbor Tabernacle at 600 Lynch street and moved to the new facility by motorcade April 28, 1971.

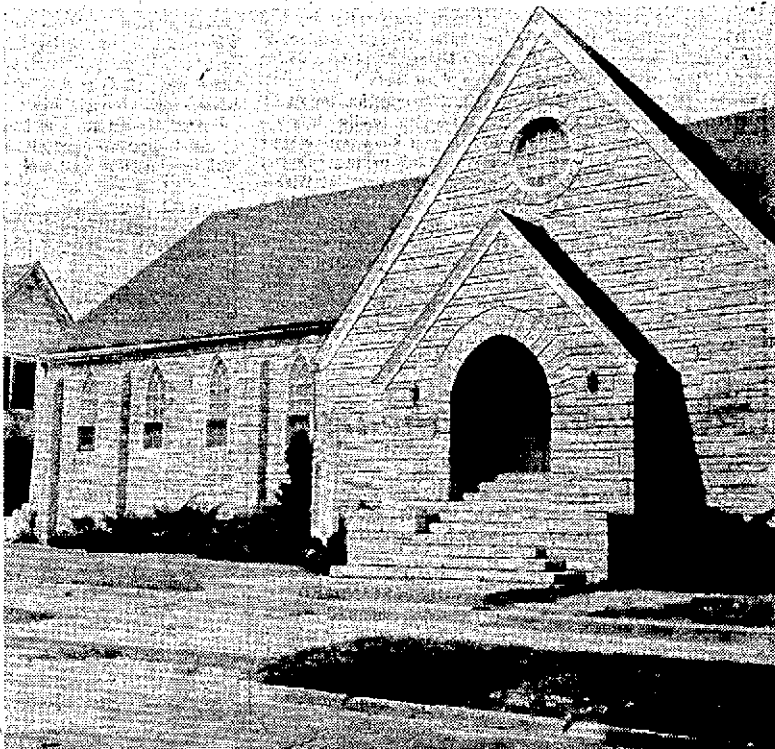

Theme of the centennial celebration is "This Far With God."

Members of the centennial committee include: Mrs. Charlotte Osby, chairman; Mrs. Lodie Elliott, co-chairman; Mrs. Gladys Burks, publicity; Eddie Elliott Sr., art; and Mrs. Anthonette Cox, secretary.

The Rev. Atkins says of the centennial celebration, "The history of Second Baptist is unique. It emerges from a struggle within a struggle... One hundred years of struggle, joy, high expectations and disappointments has brought us to this high moment of celebration, 100 years, 'This Far With God.'"

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

Secretary Resents 'Kicks'

Dear Ann Landers: My employer is an independent businessman who is caught in a tight economic crunch like so many others. He is also a swell guy.

The people who owe him money aren't paying and he is in a temporary financial bind which is troubling him. While I know it's not the proper way to handle the problem, he is avoiding all phone calls from people he owes money. Frequently he goes out of town on business and I take the messages.

May I say a word to his creditors?

Dear Ones: I only answer the phone around here. I am not responsible for your collection problems, nor am I interested in your opinion of my employer who owes you money. I can only deliver your messages. I can't put his finger in the dial and force him to return your calls.

Please save your four-letter words for HIM. If you aren't getting any results from your letters, cables and telegrams, don't yell at me. I only work here. — His Girl Friday

Dear Girl: Here's your message and I hope the "Dear Ones" take heed. You realize, of course, they are merely letting off steam when they yell at you. It's like the kid who loses in a game of marbles and comes home and kicks the cat because he's the one closest to the door.

Kids Need Love

Dear Ann Landers: This letter will be something of a "relief" for you. I don't have a problem. In fact, I've been blessed. I'm a mother who has worked with children, and come to know many young people well.

They need to know they are loved and cared about. They need someone to confide in. It is important that youth be listened to. Home should be a place to bring friends. A place to laugh and a place to cry.

I have a question for every parent who is reading this letter. Do you know where your child is at this moment? Do you care enough to find out? Who is he with? What is he doing? Could you be reached if he needed you? Are you setting a good example for your child? Do you demand something of him that you don't demand of yourself? Perhaps your problem lies right there.

Children need at least one parent who cares. Not a beautiful house or fine clothes. PLEASE take this to heart. — A Lover Of Young People

Dear Friend: Thank you for a provocative letter. If it made anyone uncomfortable I'm glad. It means you delivered your message.

'Amusement Tax'

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I like to go out to dinner once a week with two other couples.

I can't drink and neither my husband nor I are big eaters. These two couples like their cocktails and they always order wine with the meal. My husband insists that we split the bill three ways. I do a slow burn when I figure the arithmetic in my head. We get stuck at least $5 every time we have dinner with these friends. Last night it was more like $8. Both women ordered crepe suzettes.

The other men have never suggested separate checks which I feel is wrong. They know good and well a three-way split is unfair to us. What should we do? — The Suckers In Long Island

Dear L.I.: Since your husband has already made it clear he will not ask for separate checks, leave the guy his dignity and figure the $5 or $8 is "amusement tax."

"Sexual freedom" presents a difficult decision for teenagers and their parents. Ann Landers offers down-to-earth advice in her new booklet, "High School Sex And How To Deal With It—A Guide For Teens And Their Parents." For each booklet, send $5 in coin plus a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Illinois 60120.

For a long time it has been suspected that fine details of a person's hair may give significant clues to their health.

More and more it is recognized that the structure of hair and its growth may be of diagnostic importance.

Dr. Algite C. Bwon, of Emory University, has been studying hair with electron microscopes and with special chemical techniques, because he believes that hair can be a sensitive index of metabolic disorders.

Hairs are taken from various parts of the body and studied for thickness, shape and unusual variations.

Such intensive work may reveal important contributions to health that previously have been overlooked.

It was once believed that only middle-aged and elderly people developed chronic changes in the lungs from tobacco. Now, a group of doctors at St. Luke's Hospital in Cleveland have found definite changes in the lungs and bronchial tubes of young smokers.

Dr. Dennis Nicwöhnner and his co-workers warn young smokers that they are not as free from problems as was formerly thought.

Unfortunately, changes in the lungs, once established, are rarely reversible. And these changes may lay the groundwork for debilitating chronic bronchitis and emphysema in later years.

A new method has been devised to measure the exact amount of blood that is ejected from the heart with each beat.

Dr. Michael B. Herman, of the Mt. Sinai School of Medicine in New York, believes his technique may be of great value in finding coronary artery disease and may be useful in complex heart surgery.

SPEAKING OF YOUR HEALTH... The edges of bathtubs don't make safe seats. Special seats can be attached to the tub to prevent slipping and severe injuries.

DR. COLEMAN welcomes letters from readers, and, while he cannot undertake to answer each one, he will use questions in his column whenever possible and when they are of general interest. Address your letters to Dr. Coleman in care of this newspaper.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Others will be surprised today when you analyze things on the spot and give them the right answers. They're still trying to understand the problem.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You have a tendency today to let things go till the last minute. But you'll squeeze under the wire in the nick of time.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Hope you have a little extra in the freezer at home today to take care of some unexpected guests around dinnertime.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Keep this evening's plans flexible. Be free to do something "fun" that may come up at the last minute.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Someone you've been out of touch with lately but who's been on your mind will be contacting you with very interesting news.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) By being alert today you may be able to pick up something of value to you personally that others have overlooked or ignored.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) It's to your advantage today to let yourself drift with the tide till you see the right opportunity to grab the brass ring.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Today you'll get some confidential information you'll be able to put to good use in furthering an ambitious aim.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) The best opportunities for gain continue to come through your more progressive contacts. Avoid conferring with people who think "status quo."

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) An unusual idea may flash through your mind today. Don't discount it because it's a departure from your normal way of operating.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Be a good listener. Someone you'll be talking to can furnish you with a new, valuable point of view.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Don't be afraid to apply new and untried methods to an old task. You could develop some step-savers that will serve you well.

For Monday, May 19, 1975

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You'll be efficient at things you enjoy, but you'll be extremely inept and careless with tasks you feel are imposed on you.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Don't act too hastily today if offered a quick-money proposition or a bargain that sounds too good to be true. Chances are it's just that.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Don't be wispy-washy about an important issue affecting the welfare of your family. Do what will benefit them materially.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) It's not likely your self-interests will be best served today. You're too easily swayed by outside influences.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Be careful in business dealings today. Don't volunteer concessions unless the other party does some adjusting.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You have a friend who's willing to help advance your hopes, but you must be more specific about your goals.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) An ally who is in a position to do you a favor will come through, but she expects you to keep it a secret.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Don't lend anything to a friend today if instinct warns you not to. That small inner voice is trying to protect you.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Stand up for what you feel you're entitled to today. If you've earned something, request what's owed you.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Before making an agreement today think it through carefully. Once you're committed, stand by your word at all costs.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You tend to be overly talkative today about a matter you're involved in that should be kept confidential. Watch out.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Be yourself with those you'll be socially in contact with today. Don't play-act, or try to be something you're not.

A — Bid six diamonds. You would not have used Blackwood if you were not going to bid a slam when your partner showed enough aces.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of bidding five diamonds your partner has bid five hearts to show two aces in response to your Blackwood call. What do you do now?

Answer Monday

By Oswald & James Jacoby

If West makes a normal lead South gets in, knocks out the ace of trumps, gets in again, pulls the last trumps and makes his contract without any fanfare. He actually makes an overtrick if a spade is led.

When we watched this hand played West was unkind enough to open the ace of clubs and continue the suit. After this start South would have come up a trick short if he had gone right after trumps. East would take his ace and give his partner a club ruff. West would get out with a diamond and wait for a spade trick.

South was well aware of this unpleasant possibility. He thought for quite a while and finally figured out a line of play that might bring home the bacon. He used what is known as a partial elimination play.

Instead of starting on trumps he cashed dummy's ace and king of diamonds and ruffed a third diamond with a high trump so as to guard against a possible overruff.

Then he led a trump. East took his ace and gave his partner a club ruff but that didn't do the defense any good. The partial elimination had worked. West was down to spades and had to lead one right up to declarer's nice tenace.

Former U-M Veep Named As Racing Commissioner

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Fedele Fauri, a former University of Michigan vice president and dean, has been appointed state racing commissioner.

Gov. William Milliken announced the appointment Friday, saying present commissioner Leo Shirley is expected to continue as a deputy commissioner.

Shirley came under criticism from both inside and outside the racing industry recently, and Fauri's appointment was expected.

Fauri retired Jan. 31 as U-M vice president for state relations and planning. He had been dean of the university's School of Social Work.

He also was director of the Michigan Department of Social Welfare, now the Department of Social Services, from 1943 to 1947, after working in a private law practice. He also held various posts in Washington in the Social Security-labor area.

"A man with his broad administrative and legal background will bring great strengths to the supervision of our state racing program," Milliken said.

Fauri said earlier this week he would divest himself of part ownership in five horses if appointed.

Milliken also praised Shirley's "devoted, loyal services in this difficult post. His assistance in this period of transition, as we begin restructuring our racing program, will be invaluable."

Milliken said the growth of racing indicates the need for a deep analysis of the program in general and a revamping of staff functions to carry out the state's supervision.

He said he has asked Fauri to report to him on additional statutory, regulatory and other changes which may be needed. The governor has been considering whether it was would be advisable to switch to a three-member racing commission.

Shirley has been criticized for some of his administrative decisions, including the denial of a racetrack license to a group of promoters in Genesee county who wanted to start harness racing.

The state Court of Appeals ordered Shirley to justify the denial, labeled it "arbitrary and capricious" and said the commissioner would have to come up with a better reason.

In curbing the expansion of racing, Shirley has been following a Milliken policy of opposing any extension of gambling in Michigan. He has also turned down several other applications from out-state businessmen who wanted to build harness racing tracks.

Shirley closed down Hazel Park racetrack last December because of bad weather, and moved some harness racing dates at Northville Downs from summer to March and April—both decisions unpopular with some racing interests.

Extra Gasoline

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A program to provide extra gasoline to stations near major tourist routes will operate again this year, the state says.

The State Energy Office announced Friday that an additional allocation of gasoline is supplied to stations within half a mile of a "recognized tourist route." The stations must agree to remain open for business until 10 p.m. on Fridays, Saturdays, Sundays and holidays.

Such stations may receive up to 20 per cent more gasoline than their normal monthly allocation, and last summer more than nine million gallons were allocated to about 300 stations a month.

The stations are along interstate freeways and major U.S. and state highways.

Three BH Men Are Arraigned

PAW PAW — Three Benton Harbor men were arraigned yesterday in Seventh district court on charges of breaking and entering in connection with the Friday morning entry of a Keeler grocery store.

Martin Luther Moore, 18, route 4, Territorial road, and Donnie Ray Franks, 22, 2814 Britain, waived examination, while Glen Wayne Poage, 19, 250 East Main, demanded a preliminary examination, which was scheduled for May 27. All three men were released on their own recognizance.

The trio was arrested by state police in connection with the theft of three cases of beer and two cartons of cigarettes from the Keeler grocery, CR-487 and Territorial road.

Ford To Close Plants

DETROIT (AP) — Ford Motor Co. plans to shut four car lines, a truck plant and an engine plant on Monday, idling 14,900 hourly workers for the week. The temporary production cutbacks are the most extensive by the nation's No. 2 automaker since the week of March 31, when Ford had eight plants shut and 27,350 workers on temporary layoff. Ford added that 20,050 of its 174,000 hourly workers would be on indefinite layoff next week, 50 fewer than this week. Altogether, Ford will have 34,950 workers on layoff Monday, up from 30,725 last week.

Blues Won't Fight Rate Hike

DETROIT (AP) — Michigan Blue Cross and Blue Shield say they won't fight a state order authorizing an average rate increase of 16.5 percent, about half of the insurer's original request. The Blues had urged an increase in annual premiums totaling some $316 million. But state Insurance Commissioner Daniel Demlow rejected the request, saying the insurers have not been filling their responsibility to control health care costs. Demlow said he would approve an increase of $153 million if the Blues refilled their rate increase application at the lower figure.

Chair Repaired Now May Save Grief Later

By ANDY LANG
AP Newfeatures

The joints of a wooden chair sometimes come loose over a period of years.

Whatever the cause — humidity problems or just wear and tear — the failure to make a proper repair can be responsible for an accident. It's the kind of repair that should be made when the trouble is first noticed. If it can't be, the chair should be kept out of service until it can.

Most common of the joint troubles is a loose rung. If both ends are loose, the rung should be removed, but very carefully so as not to cause further damage or mar the finish. If only one rung is loose, it may be necessary just to remove that end from its socket.

The first step is to scrape off all the old, dried glue from both the end of the rung (or the two ends, as the case may be) and the socket, since new glue will not adhere firmly to the old.

This can be done with a pen knife or similar tool. Sanding off the old glue is possible if done very carefully, but it is not generally advisable because it will make the end smaller and the hole larger, two things that will make an even worse fit than before.

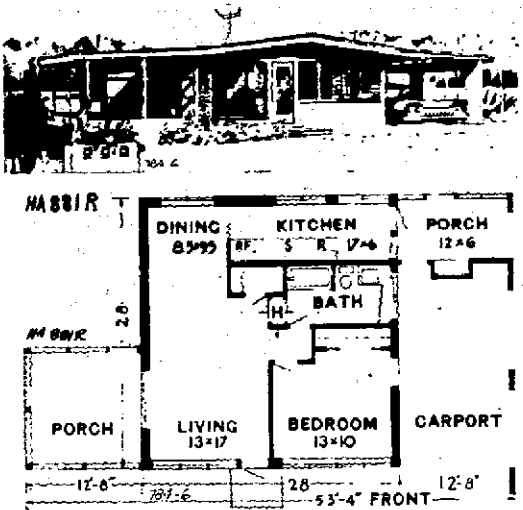

If you determine that the joint will be reasonably tight, you can go ahead with the gluing. More often than not, however, the end of the rung must be made a bit larger so that it fits more securely into the socket. The most professional way of doing this is to cut a little notch into the end of the rung and insert a wedge into it.

Or you can wind something around the end, perhaps strands of steel wool or silk thread or even a small piece of cloth. Whatever your choice, coat the inside of the socket with wood glue before reinserting the end of the rung into the hole. When this is done, be sure to wipe off immediately any glue that is squeezed out of the hole, using a soft cloth and warm water.

While the glue is drying, the joint must be held together. Read the label of the glue you purchased to see how long this should be.

I make it a point to add on Building News

THIS VERY COMPACT one-bedroom home is designed for convenient and economical living. The 26½-foot-deep living-dining area is cross-ventilated and cross-lighted, making the home comfortably cool in the summer. The kitchen is the "corridor" type with the breakfast nook at one end and the dining room at the other end. The 12 by 6 screened rear porch serves as a summer dining area, overlooking the back garden. The 12 by 12 front porch is accessible from the living room via a wide sliding glass door. The centrally located oil furnace allows heat to enter all rooms. The bathroom is located back-to-back with the kitchen plumbing. HA881R was designed by Jan Reiner, 1000 52nd Street North, St. Petersburg, Fla. 33710. It has 784 square feet of living space. Anyone wishing to know the cost of the blueprint can write to the architect, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Birch, holly and oak trees are annually attacked by leaf miners. These small larvae of various members of the fly family eat between the upper and lower surface of leaves. Holly miners are here now, birch leaf miners are due anytime. They will do no serious injury but cause the plant to look bad. Spraying with a teaspoon of Sevin, Malathion or diazinon (spectracide) per gallon of water when mined areas begin to show up will control them. Generally it is not economically feasible to treat large trees by spraying.

Cross-pollination between cucumbers, melons and squash does not occur. Cross-pollination will occur between some varieties of squash and pumpkin but the shape and taste of this year's fruit are not affected. If seed is saved there may be some strange looking squash, etc. next year! Corn is the only vegetable that will cross-pollinate and even the kernels of this year's crop may be affected.

The Berrien county Cooperative Extension service operates a soil testing laboratory. Samples to be tested should be brought to the extension office in the Berrien county courthouse, St. Joseph. A good sample will include soil from 3-4 locations in the garden or lawn. A composite (mixed) sample of about one cup is required for testing. Samples cost $1 each to test. If more information is needed, call the extension office at 963-7111, Extension 241.

Here's the Answer

By ANDY LANG

Q. — Can I use penetrating resin to finish an old oak table which apparently never had a finish on it? Also, can wood with the resin finish on it be stained?

A. — Yes, the penetrating finish can be used on oak. However, it usually darkens the wood, so better test it first in an inconspicuous place to be sure it doesn't give you the effect you want without using a stain.

Q. — Our house has always been too dry. Recently, my son bought me a humidifier. It has worked wonders in eliminating the dryness, but now our living room picture window is often wet on the inside. Is the humidifier responsible for this?

A. — The wetness on the inside of the window is condensation, caused when warm, moist air settles on a cooler surface. What has happened in your case is that the humidifier is throwing out too much moisture, so that now your living room has too much humidity in it rather than too little. Most humidifiers have some kind of adjustment so that they will not turn on except when the dryness in the room reaches a certain level. Read the instructions that came with the humidifier to determine how it should be set or, if it is not automatic, how to keep the humidity at the proper level.

Pay, Fringe Up For Intermediate District Workers

BERRIEN SPRINGS — The Berrien County Intermediate school board voted an approximate three per cent pay increase to special education personnel, administrators and secretarial staff for next school year.

The board also agreed to pick up the five per cent state pension contribution that employees have paid in the past. The pension payment will apply to all intermediate employees, from administrators to custodians.

The approximate three per cent increase represents the next step on the pay scale grid in the district's contract with the Berrien County Intermediate Education association, composed of special education teachers and consultants. The pay raises given administrators and the secretarial staff are comparable to the increment in the pay grid for the special education group.

James Walton, administrative assistant, said the increment pay increases average about three per cent. This, together with the five per cent retirement share assumed by the board, is comparable to an eight per cent pay boost. The 24 secretaries also will receive an additional $100-a-year raise. Custodians will get a pay jump of 15 cents an hour. Although some personnel in the data processing department will get higher salaries, it is because of changes in job classifications and not raises, Walton stated.

Coloma's Seniors To Run Government

COLOMA — Coloma high school seniors, members of American government classes, will take over the reigns of Coloma city and township government here Monday.

The annual student government day replaces the usual Mayor's Exchange day of Michigan week. Elected to township positions were: Tina Page, supervisor; Diane Bumbulis, clerk; Lisa Weaver, treasurer; Linda Remback and Carol Noack, trustees; Glenn Beardsley, police chief; Geneva McKenzie, health officer; Jean Bridgman, constable; Jeff Drach, chairman, board of review; Sue Cluey, zoning board chairman and Chris Golas, building inspector.

The day-long event includes mock meetings at Coloma city hall and township hall plus tours of municipality facilities and detailed question-and-answer periods regarding city and township business.

Lung Association Gifts Drop

KALAMAZOO — Officials of the Michigan Lung association have blamed the state's economic woes for a drop in contributions made to the association during its 1974 drive which ended last March 31.

Dr. Winona Barrows, president of the southwestern Michigan chapter of the state association, said 1974 contributions in southwestern Michigan and across the state were down about 1.6 per cent compared to 1973.

She said $682,899 was collected statewide and $130,651 collected in southwestern Michigan. There was $143,203 collected in southwestern Michigan in the 1973 drive, she added.

Area counties' their 1974 contributions and the 1973 totals in parentheses were: Allegan, $10,792 ($11,272); Berrien, $37,123 ($40,573); Cass, $6,261 ($8,065); and Van Buren, $8,984 ($12,468).

Milliken 'Outraged' By Vote

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Gov. William Milliken said Friday Senate rejection of his nominee to the Michigan Technological Board of Control was a "mean and petty political act." Milliken accused Sen. Joseph Mack of "misleading and demagogic statements" in his opposition to Thomas Korpi, 24. Mack, an Ironwood Democrat, headed the opposition to the Michigan Tech board. In some of the harshest language he has used, Milliken said he talked to Korpi Friday morning and told him he was "outraged" by the Senate vote. Democrats voted unanimously Thursday to reject the nomination, which failed, 22-11. All 11 votes to confirm Korpi were cast by Republicans. "The majority Democrats resorted to the safety and security of their secret caucus, then searched out like puppets to vote against him," Milliken told reporters during a news conference on a porch outside the executive office. "They were misled by Senator Joseph Mack's misleading and demagogic statements."

Fixing Charges Are Filed

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — Five Michigan corporations were indicted Friday on federal charges of conspiring to rig bids for contracts for storing the household goods of military personnel.

The indictment, returned by a grand jury in U.S. District Court in Grand Rapids, charged that the companies conspired to rig bids, fix prices and allocate business for storage contracts handled by the transportation management office of Sawyer Air Force Base in Michigan's Upper Peninsula.

The contracts in question provided for the storage of household goods of military personnel assigned to overseas duty stations where the shipment of household goods is limited.

The defendants are Expressways Inc. of Saginaw, Flanagan Brothers Storage Co., Marquette; Nystrom's Moving and Storage Inc. of Marquette; Vanway's Inc. of Saginaw; and Debus Carriage and Storage Co. of Bay City.

The alleged conspiracy began in the 1960s and ended in 1974, the indictment said.

The five defendants had military storage contracts amounting to about $750,000 during the period of the alleged conspiracy, the Justice Department said.

The government asserts that the companies conspired to fix prices and rig bids to the detriment of military personnel.

PLEASANT ROOMS: Nurse Donna Borst, director of nursing, answers a call in one of five semi-private rooms in the new 10-bed obstetrics department at Berrien General. Colorful bedspreads give room an at-home look. Obstetrics includes 10 beds, 2 labor rooms, 2 delivery rooms, 3 nurseries and a father's lounge.

Gas Tank Springs Leak; 75-100 Families Flee

MASON, Mich. (AP) — About 75 to 100 families were evacuated from their homes early today after a leak in a liquid ammonia fertilizer tank sent clouds of noxious gas billowing into a residential area, authorities said.

City Treasurer Norman Austin said white clouds of ammonia gas covered a 14-block area in the northwest part of the city, 30 minutes from the town where the leak occurred.

Austin said the rupture occurred in a mobile trailer tank used to spray farm areas. He said city and county officials and State Police were using air packs during the evacuation.

The Michigan County Sheriff's Department said the leak of anhydrous ammonia began around 2:45 a.m. at the Mason grain elevator, where the gas is stored for distribution to farmers.

The department said the gas was present in an area of about 10 blocks. The leak was isolated to a faulty valve and was sealed off within an hour, deputies said.

"We're just waiting for it to clear out," an deputy said.

Added another: "If you breathe a little too much of it it'll sure clear out your nostrils."

There were no immediate reports of injuries or serious illness in the incident.

Milliken, Democrats Seek Pay Bill 'Deal'

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Gov. William Milliken has criticized the practice of providing unemployment compensation benefits for those who quit their jobs or are fired.

Milliken repeated that he "fully intends to veto" a Democratic bill raising unemployment benefits "if that becomes necessary." Milliken made his comments Friday as it was announced negotiations over the bill will begin next week.

The measure, increasing benefits by up to $30 a week for some 450,000 of Michigan's unemployed, was hustled through the Democratic legislature last weekend. But Milliken says he'll kill it unless it's altered to cut costs for business.

Despite the fact the bill has reached the governor's desk, it could be recalled by the legislature if a deal is struck. Democrats, not convinced they have the votes to override a veto, have agreed to keep bargaining.

The governor has proposed a compromise which reduces the benefit increases for those with few dependents, raises the increases for those with more dependents, and disqualifies some of those who quit their jobs or are fired for certain reasons.

Milliken, backing up his proposal, criticized the current practice of providing benefits for those who quit their jobs, "to collect millions of dollars in unemployment compensation."

"The correction of such abuses is necessary in order to finance greater benefits for those out of work through no fault of their own," Milliken said in a statement. He said employers are paying about $90 million a year in benefits to those who quit their jobs.

"The truth is that about 25 per cent of claims for unemployment compensation are made by those who have quit their jobs or been fired for theft, assault, sabotage, drunkenness or other such misconduct," Milliken said. "Thus we could finance additional benefits for the truly deserving without additional costs by further disqualifications of those who are abusing the system."

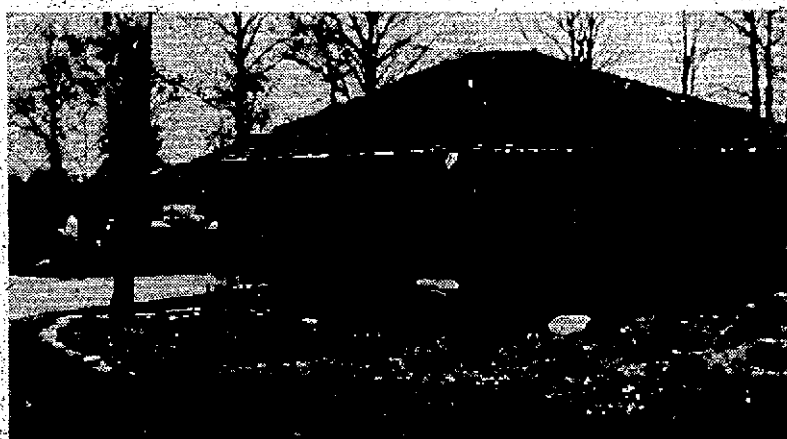

Milliken's proposal calls for extending from six to 14 weeks the disqualification for quitting or being fired for misconduct. He wants total disqualification for those fired for assault, sabotage or theft.

Milliken, responding to business complaints the bill is far too costly, said he will continue to seek an alternative measure "that will better serve the interests of both the employee and employer."

Democrats have responded to such arguments by saying the changes would open the door to employer abuses.

If an employer wants to get rid of a troublesome worker, they argue, he could catch him taking home a discarded part, or kicking a balky machine in frustration, for example. That might qualify as "theft" or "sabotage," they suggest.

House Minority Leader Dennis Cawthorne, R-Manistee, said negotiations on the bill probably would begin Tuesday. He said the GOP would try to win approval of Milliken's proposal calling for increases ranging from $15 to $30 a week, instead of the flat $30 maximum hike.

RECORD YEAR FOR CENTER: Ardale W. Ferguson travel center on I-94 north of the Indiana-Michigan border near New Buffalo recorded more visitors than any other state travel information center last year. A total of 383,981 visitors were recorded during 1974, according to Don Wehner, travel information center director, a 23.8 per cent increase over 1973. Besides new yearly record, center also set record for number of visitors in a single day with 4,904 on July 28 and a new weekly record of 23,871 during the second week of August. Michigan has nine such travel information centers which served more than 1.1 million during 1974; Wehner said. Ferguson, of Fairplain, is a Benton Harbor industrialist and was the state highway commission's first chairman after its inception under the new 1973 state constitution.

Black Charges Racism As Sheriff's Hearing Ends

By DENNIS COGSWELL

Paw Paw Bureau

SOUTH HAVEN — A 24-year-old black South Haven man testified yesterday he felt he was as well qualified for a position as a Van Buren county sheriff's deputy as others hired in 1972, but was denied employment because of his race.

In testimony during the second and final day of a Michigan Civil Rights commission hearing on the matter, Allen Mingo said "After learning that the sheriff's department had hired 12 deputies, and knowing none were black, I felt I was just as qualified as some of those who were hired."

A Civil Rights commission investigator also testified that of others hired, one had had open heart surgery, one did not meet the minimum age requirement at the time and one had a bad driving record as a youth.

The hearing is part of a civil rights suit brought by the commission on behalf of Mingo against the sheriff's department.

The suit asks that Mingo be given a job as a deputy sheriff, awarded $2,500 in damages for alleged discrimination, plus an unspecified amount for wages lost in not getting the job.

Hearing officer Charles M. Waugh of Muskegon said both parties have 30 days in which to file briefs and final arguments.

Waugh will make a recommendation to the Civil Rights commission. A final decision from the commission could take several months, he said.

Mingo also testified that in 1973 he filed suit with the state civil service department on grounds the state police exam was discriminatory. He said he later dropped the suit.

Mingo said he never was granted a personal interview with Sheriff Richard E. Stump or granted a physical examination. Mingo had received an honorable discharge from the Armed Services due to a back injury, but testified yesterday he had two local physicians examine him and both said he was able to perform police work.

He admitted he was dismissed by one employer and refused a job from another for falsifying job applications concerning his back injury.

Stump had testified Thursday that he was not aware of Mingo's application until two deputy positions open under the Emergency Employment Act (EEA) funds had already been filled. He said both men were hired based on the fact they were both certified police officers and had training in first aid. Mingo was not a certified officer, but met the minimum requirements for employment as a deputy.

Mrs. Johnna Husarek, a chief investigator for the Civil Rights commission assigned to the case, said her investigation revealed in her opinion there was a basis for job discrimination because of race in the Mingo case.

She said one of the applicants hired had had open heart surgery and one did not meet the minimum age requirement at the time, and one had a bad driving record as a youth. She said that it was on her comparisons of Mingo's qualifications with others that were hired that she had made her recommendation.

Under cross-examination by Van Buren Prosecutor Frank Willis, Mrs. Husarek said she couldn't remember if she had ever seen Mingo's file application. "Did you ask for Mingo's file?" Willis questioned. "I can't remember," Mrs. Husarek said, after a long pause. "How could you make a comparison if you didn't see his file?" Willis asked. She said her comparison was on information supplied by Sheriff Stump, indicating Stump was cooperative in her requests for such information.

Stump also testified yesterday that he had a background check made on Mingo, and found that Mingo came highly recommended, but maintained he had no knowledge of Mingo's application until after the positions had been filled.

Two South Haven city patrolmen, William Robinson and Michael McAllister, both blacks, testified yesterday that they were offered jobs by Stump in the early 1970's, after they sought them, but turned them down in favor of the South Haven city police, due to higher pay and better fringe benefits.

Lethargic Ali Saved By 11th Round TKO

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Claiming that at 33 he is a young man, Muhammad Ali says he wants to give Joe Bugner, Joe Frazier and George Foreman a title before the year is out.

Ali did not look so young for 10 rounds Friday night, when 33-year-old Ron Lyle appeared to be winning their title fight. That all ended in the 11th, when Ali unleashed a barrage of head punches that left the ex-convict helpless and finished, his one shot at fame and fortune ended in a few seconds of speed and power.

Ali, who had a bruise over his left eye as he came out for the 11th round—one in which he told his handlers between rounds he would finish Lyle—credited his new strategy of wearing down his foe for the swift ending to a dull fight.

"I knew I was behind because he had thrown the most punches, but I came out serious to win all the rest of the rounds," Ali said of his attitude after 10 rounds, most of which found him doing next to nothing except inviting Lyle to hit him.

At 24½, Ali was the heaviest he's been for his 14 title fights, and he gave a lethargic performance in the first four rounds.

"I was using my 'Rope-a-Dope' strategy and then I went to the 'Mirage,'" he said. Ali said he wanted Lyle to wear himself out pounding him on the ropes, but when Lyle refused to fall for that, he went to the center of the ring for the "Mirage"—like someone on the desert thinking they can see water and only find sand."

Lyle, weighing 219, denied he was helpless at the end; he said the fight should have continued. That is not the way it looked to others.

Ali caught him with a left-right-right combination on the ropes and staggered Lyle, who avoided a knockdown by falling against the ropes. Then Ali belted home a long series of rapid and strong follow-ups—as many as 35 punches—that Lyle could not evade as he staggered.

Ali signalled for referee Ferd Hernandez to stop the fight, and later said, "The man was unconscious. He wasn't defending himself. I cannot kill a man. I could see in his eyes he was just there to be hit." Hernandez finally stopped at 1:08 of the 11th round.

Lyle disagreed. "I wasn't going down or nothing. I wasn't hurt." His opinion was not shared by many.

A crowd of 6,875 paid $258,672 to watch in person as a nationwide television audience saw the bout at home, the first time Ali has been shown on home television since 1966.

Ali collected $1 million for his second defense since knocking out Foreman for the title in Zaire, Africa. Lyle got $100,000.

Since becoming a professional fighter on release from prison, Lyle built a 30-2-1 record to earn his title shot while rated the No. 7 challenger.

Ali, now 47-2 with 34 knockouts, next is scheduled to fight Bugner in Kuala Lumpur on June 30.

POW! — Television lights add an explosive touch as world heavyweight champion Muhammad Ali delivers a jab to the head of challenger Ron Lyle during their title fight Friday night in Las Vegas. Ali gave lethargic performance for 10 rounds but unleashed flurry of combination punches in the 11th to retain his crown with TKO in the nationally-televised fight. (AP Wirephoto)

BY JIM DeLAND

KALAMAZOO — The Hull brothers — Ellis and Leroy — left their names etched in Benton Harbor high school's athletic history.

Now their younger sister Carmella is writing a few chapters

Team Scoring

CLASS A
Kalamazoo Central 42, Traverse City 30, Grand Rapids Ottawa Hills 24, Benton Harbor 20, Grand Rapids Creston 20, St. Joseph 15, Loy Norrix 12, Grand Rapids Christian 7, Portage Central 7, Grand Haven 6, Mont Shinarump 5, Portage Northern 3, Holland 3, Battle Creek Central 3, Battle Creek Lakeview 3, Grand Rapids Central, East Kentwood, Auskegon and Niles did not score.

track meet at Kalamazoo Central high school.

Although disdaining the use of starting blocks in every race, Carmella won the 100 in 11.2 seconds, came back to win the 220 in 25.6 and then ran leadoff leg on the Benton Harbor 440-yard relay team that also qualified for the state meet with a third-place time of 51.5.

"I've tried everything, but she just won't use the starting blocks," Benton Harbor coach Nancy Flynn grinned. "I'm sure if she did, she could get down to 11 flat."

"I told her they'd have the blocks here for her, so she might as well use them, but in the 100 she just stood next to them...I could have died. At least she could have had them take the blocks away."

The Tigresses' coach still was beginning with pride at the performance of Hull and freshman Chris Jones, who led Benton Harbor to a tie for fourth place in the team standings behind runaway winner Kalamazoo Central.

Jones soared to an all-time area record of 17 feet, 11 and three-eighths inches in the long jump — almost 15 inches farther than anyone from this area has ever jumped and better than the existing state record — but still had to settle for second place behind Kalamazoo's Debbie Dunning, who went one inch further.

Jones also joined Hull, Janice Alexander and Mozella Jones on the qualifying 440 relay team.

St. Joseph got a second straight regional championship from hurdler Jean MacFarlane and became the first area team to crack 4:20 in the mile relay, but still had to settle for sixth place in the team standings.

MacFarlane, who won the combined Class A-B regional as a sophomore last year, matched her area-leading time of 15.2 seconds in the semifinals and then won the finals in 15.6 on an ankle that needed immediate taping.

The St. Joe mile relay quartet of Nan McLelland, Val Shearer, Sue Bartz and Ruth DeVries was assigned to one of the slower heats, but overcame that handicap with a time of 4:19.6 that earned third place and a trip to the state finals May 31 at Livonia Franklin high school.

McLelland also qualified for the state meet in the mile run by placing second behind the super 5:18.6 clocking of Traverse City's Kay Richards.

St. Joe two-milers Nancy Noah and Sue VanArnooy, who shared the area record going into the meet, lowered their times to 13:23.6 and 13:25.7 but failed to even place in an event dominated by Grand Rapids Creston's Virginia Shook, who was timed in a sensational 12:00.6.

Hull remained the only girl to win two individual events and shows every indication of following in her brothers' footsteps — Ellis was a member of Benton Harbor's unbeaten 1965 Class A championship basketball team and Leroy still holds the all-time area shot put record.

"Ellis always liked to play basketball and baseball better," she said, "but I used to run against Leroy and he'd beat me."

That might not be true anymore.

Hoosier Golfers Build Big Lead

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP) — Indiana held a whopping 14-stroke lead over Ohio State going into today's final 36 holes of Big Ten golf championship.

The first 36 holes, played Friday over the par-71 Indiana University course, saw the defending champion Hoosiers led by Gary Biddinger at three-over-par 145, and Kelly Roberts at 146. IU's Bob Ackerman headed a logjam at 147 among Craig Carson of Ohio State and Illinois' Harold Harder.

Team scoring at the end of the first 36 holes was Indiana 736, Ohio State 756, Michigan State 761, Michigan 779, Illinois 788, Purdue 797, Minnesota 805, Iowa 814, Wisconsin 815 and Northwestern 864.

Jones soared to an all-time area record of 17 feet, 11 and three-eighths inches in the long jump — almost 15 inches farther than anyone from this area has ever jumped and better than the existing state record — but still had to settle for second place behind Kalamazoo's Debbie Dunning, who went one inch further.

Jones also joined Hull, Janice Alexander and Mozella Jones on the qualifying 440 relay team.

Michigan Eyes Tennis 'Sweep'

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Michigan, seeking an eighth consecutive Big Ten tennis championship, swept through Friday's quarterfinals without a mishap and led going into today's semifinals.

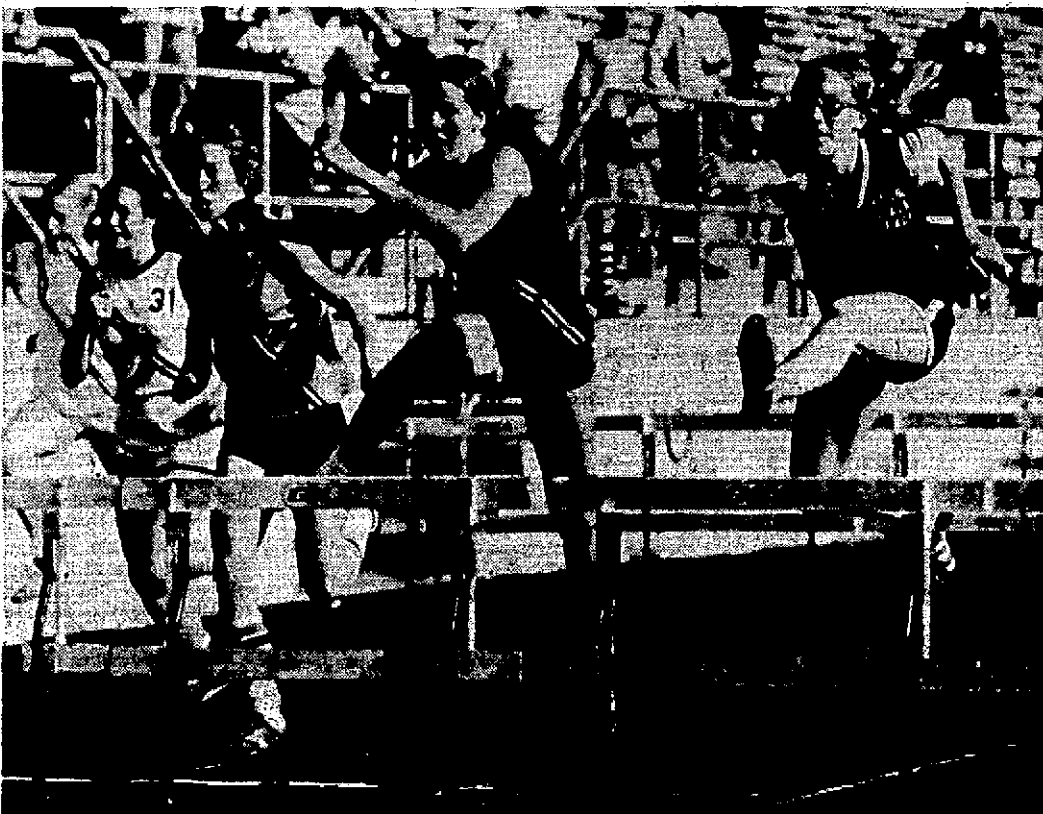

The Wolverines, led by top-seeded Victor Amaya, advanced all six singles entrants and three doubles teams to lead second-place Minnesota 36-26. The Gophers advanced four of their six singles players and all three doubles teams.

Ohio State was third with 18 points, Wisconsin had 17, Illinois 16, Indiana 12, Iowa 11, Michigan State 9, Northwestern 4 and Purdue 1.

Amaya, a junior seeking his third consecutive No. 1 singles title, defeated Mike Wilson of Wisconsin 6-3, 6-2.

Webb Hayne of Illinois, who won the No. 4 singles crown last year, to prevent a Michigan sweep, was surprised by Bill Stark of Minnesota in No. 3 singles, 6-3, 5-7, 6-4.

Finals in the meet are scheduled Sunday.

From Associated Press

Nobody's perfect. Not even Don Sutton.

The Los Angeles Dodger right-hander who has a lot on the ball came close to pitching a perfect game Thursday night, but fell apart in the last two innings.

First he lost his no-hitter. Then he lost his shutout. And finally, he lost the game to the Pittsburgh Pirates, 3-2.

"Pittsburgh is an explosive club," said Sutton. "When they hit, it's like an epidemic. It runs through the whole ballclub."

For 7 1-3 gorgeous innings, Sutton was in complete control with a 1-0 lead. And it looked like that was all he was going to need. He struck out seven, and allowed only two balls to be hit out of the infield. The Pirates got nothing resembling a hit.

But with one out in the eighth, Richie Zisk hit a hot grounder just to the left of third baseman Ron Cey and into left field for the Pirates' first hit. Dave Parker followed with a line single to center and Manny Sanguillen singled to tie the score.

Sutton gave up his fourth hit to Rennie Stennett in the ninth and then his fifth, a home run by Al Oliver. As the ball flew into the right field pavilion in Dodger Stadium, there went Sutton's chances of winning.

"It's no disgrace losing to these guys," Sutton said of the hard-hitting Pirates.

In the other National League games, the Montreal Expos beat the Cincinnati Reds 4-2; the Philadelphia Phillies routed the Atlanta Braves 12-8; the New York Mets trimmed the Houston Astros 10-2; the San Diego Padres beat the Chicago Cubs 8-2 and the San Francisco Giants defeated the St. Louis Cardinals 4-3 in 10 innings.

After Oliver put the Pirates ahead 3-1 in the top of the ninth, the Dodgers scored a run off Dave Giusti in their half of the inning on Steve Garvey's single, an infield out and a single by Cey. Bill Buckner then grounded into a game-ending double play.

Pepe Manguel keyed two rallies and extended his hitting streak to 12 games, leading Montreal over slumping Cincinnati.

Two-run homers by Mike Schmidt, pitcher Larry Christenson and Larry Doby in a six-run second inning helped streaking Philadelphia to its victory over Atlanta. It was the Phillies' fifth straight victory.

Ed Kranepool's two-run double sparked a four-run first inning and Rusty Staub and Dave Kingman homered, powering New York past Houston.

With the score tied 1-1 in the fourth inning, Manguel beat out a single down the first base line and went to third base on singles by Mike Jorgensen and Larry Bittner off Cincinnati right-hander Jack Billingham, 3-3. Tony Scott then lashed a grounder to Joe Morgan at second base to give the Expos the go-ahead run.

Enzo Hernandez drove in three runs and Dave Winfield two and Joe McIntosh pitched a six-hitter to lead San Diego over Chicago.

Derrel Thomas led off the 10th inning with a triple and later scored when Luis Melendez dropped Willie Montanez' line drive in shallow center, giving San Francisco a tense victory over St. Louis.

'Fit' Harrah, Texas Rip Slumping Tigers

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — Toby Harrah is back and his booming bat couldn't come at a better time for the hit-hungry Texas Rangers — or a worse time for the luckless Detroit Tigers.

Harrah, who was sidelined two weeks ago after being plunked on the elbow by a pitched ball, collected five RBIs Friday night on two singles and a double in a 10-3 Texas rout of Detroit.

His three-run double in a five-run third-inning just missed being a grand slam homer.

"I thought it might go out," said Harrah. "But it's nice to have a night like this. I haven't had five RBIs in one night in three years."

Harrah admitted he had trouble getting back into the groove because of a sore elbow incurred when he was hit by a pitch.

"I was doing a little flinching up there...that's only natural after you've been decked by a pitch," said Harrah, who has returned to his old post at shortstop after a fling at second base.

Rookie Roy Smalley stepped in while Harrah was gone and slung the ball plus making sensational plays afield. Smalley was injured Thursday night and Harrah moved from second back to his old position at shortstop.

"I want to play shortstop because I've spent five years there," Harrah said. "I'd be silly to go to third base or second base...but I'll go if (Manager) Billy (Martin) asks me to do it."

Harrah said of Smalley, "he could be great; but how can you tell in two weeks? I am glad he's on my team."

Texas collected 14 hits to give veteran Mickey Lolich his third loss in six decisions.

Bill Hands, although giving up a solo homer to Aurelio Rodriguez, coasted to his fourth victory against two losses.

Tom Grieve slammed a two-run homer for Texas in the big five-run third inning.

Harrah said "my elbow is still sore but many more nights like this and it will be cured very quickly."

Detroit Tigers' Mickey Lolich (3-3) took the loss, 10-3, in the fifth inning.

Chiefs Lose 'Swan Song'

Dowagiac didn't exactly leave Big Six conference baseball in a blaze of glory Friday.

The Chiefs were dumped by first-place Portage Central 7-3 in their last game ever in that league. This fall, Dowagiac enters the Blossomland conference.

In another Big Six contest, St. Joe lost to Niles 7-2.

Chief pitcher Bob Waalkes walked 10 batters in three innings as Dowagiac lost its early 2-0 lead. The Chiefs had six hits — two more than Central; now 9-1 on the season. Dowagiac finishes in the league in last place with a 1-9 showing.

Marty Smallbone socked a triple and single for Dowagiac, now 9-18 overall.

Bubba LaBaumard swatted the only RBI for St. Joe — a double in the first inning. Teammate Gerald Wolf had two singles. Both teams had six hits.

Scott Coleman had nine strikeouts for Niles, Ed Owsank a just three for the Bears.

The 54-hole event, sponsored by the Flint-area Buick Dealers, will be an official PGA satellite tournament played against the U.S. Open in Chicago.

Berrien Springs, Bridgman Capture Regional Crowns

Bees' Mike Schaller Sets Three New Records

By JERRY DYKSTRA
Staff Sports Writer

WATERVLIET — Berrien Springs and Bridgman took different routes in driving to Regional track championships here Friday night.

The Shamrocks, who won all the relays, broke a deadlock with surprising Bloomingdale by taking the meet's final two events (mile and 440 relays) to chalk up the Class C title.

Bridgman, getting three regional records from Mike Schaller, registered 25 points in the field events to take a huge early lead. But then Centreville came back to take the last two relays to forge a final 41-41 tie for the Class D crown.

The regional win was the Shamrocks' fifth major title of the spring while the Bees, who deadlocked with Mendon for first last year, were collecting their third regional championship in four springs. Both Berrien and Bridgman are members of the Red Arrow conference.

"Things went as I expected," commented Berrien coach Norm Harris. "We thought we would win the three relays. We knew the meet would be close and go down to the final two relays. Miller gave us a good start by winning the long jump and this Paustian isn't too bad for only a sophomore. I'm very pleased."

"We had some super efforts by the kids," offered Bee coach Dick Fodor. "We set four school records. Schaller was great. Skorupa placed in four events and Zille gave us a lift in the two-mile. I really didn't expect much in those final two relays...we just didn't have enough people."

There were a total of 11 meet records set with six coming in Class D and five in Class C.

Schaller, still nursing a sore left knee and only with limited action this spring, captured three records with his high jump of 6 feet, 4 and three-fourths inches also making fourth place on the all-time area honor roll list. He also took the pole vault in 12 feet, 5 1/2 inches and the 100. His preliminary time of 10.0 in the record with his 44.75, also best in southwestern Michigan this spring. Members were Bill Miller, Mark Wyner, Bob White and Reggie Croom.

Frank Yankovich of Bangor and Larry Wallace of Lake Michigan Catholic also turned in impressive record smashing victories. Yankovich vaulted 13 feet, 6 inches, an area best and third place (tie) on the all-time honor roll. Wallace zoomed 1:57.3 in the 880 run.

The Shamrocks ended up with six first places. Paustian also anchored the winning 880 and mile relays teams with a swift 40.9 last lap in the mile relay. Miller, White and Croom were also on the 880 squad and Bill Decker, Tim Mead and Rick Ruhl on the mile. Miller also won the long jump and Croom the low hurdles.

Eau Claire's Taylor Lanier took double wins in the 100 and 200 dashes. Bloomingdale, which had only two points in last year's meet, got wins from Tony Givhan in the high hurdles and Lynn Dickerson in the mile. Jim McVay of Watervliet won the shot put with an area best 48 feet, 3 1/2 inches and River Valley's Doug Carlson the two-mile.

Bridgman, which along with Berrien will compete in the Red Arrow conference meet Wednesday night, also got a first from Don Skorupa in the long jump. The Bees finished 1-2-3 in the high jump with Dick Ott and Skorupa both at 6 feet, 1 inch behind Schaller's beauty.

Centreville swept to five firsts with three coming in the relay events. Ken Troutman of Saugatuck delivered two firsts in the 440 and 880 while Centreville's Terry Kline won both hurdles.

The top three finishers in each event automatically qualified for the May 31 state meets — Class C at Central Michigan University and Class D at Caro high school.

Thinclads who matched or bettered pre-determined state cutoff marks also qualified...including Bob Wallace of Hartford in the mile Don McAfee of Eau Claire in the 100 dash.

A total of 32 schools competed on the Watervliet track under ideal weather conditions.

Fate Frowns On Rockettes

Berrien Ends Disputed Second In Regional

CONSTANTINE — Victory literally slipped through the fingers of the Berrien Springs girls' track team here Friday night.

Coach Carolyn Crawford's favored Rockettes were back, the Rockettes fought back gamely and led by one point going into the final event of the day — the 440-yard relay.

But again Fate turned her back on the Berrien Springs squad as Union City was judged the winner in a virtual photo finish that saw both teams tied in 54.1 seconds.

"I've never felt bad about losing...until tonight," Crawford said of the disturbing loss.

"They bumped our girl in the relay, we dropped the baton, picked it up and...they disqualified us. I really feel we were gyped."

"I know it couldn't have been out of the exchange zone...no way."

Berrien's valiant but ill-fated comeback was sparked by veteran Cyndi Sherburn — the only senior on the team — who won the half mile in a school record 2:33.4, placed second in the 440 with a school record 1:05.3 and anchored the mile relay team to victory in 4:20.6 — second fastest time ever posted by a southwestern Michigan girls' team.

Other members of the winning mile relay squad were Laurie Schoen, Kathy Keigley and Jill Quiriconi.

"The Rockettes' only other victory was posted by Candi Mead who won the high jump at 4-10, but they almost got another one in the closing 440 relay where Terri Moore came within a fraction of catching Union City's Cynthia Hobday.

Other area winners included Debbie Landin of River Valley in the shot put with a toss of 37-3/4, Laurie Centilli of River Valley in the hurdles with a time of 16.5 and the Bangor 880 relay team of Shan Soliday, Barb Johnson, Sandra Hinton and Crystal Smith with a clocking of 1:53.3.

Fennville's LuAnn Garlock established an all-time area two-mile record of 12:51.0 — more than a full minute faster than her best previous reported time — but still finished second to Union City's Debbie Little.

Faith Otte of Eau Claire posted the area's second-best time of 13:17.8 while finishing second.

Arrow Race Stays Same

Thomas, Meek Hurl Gems
For Indians, Lakers

Hartford and Lake Michigan Catholic both won their Red Arrow conference baseball games Friday...but in totally different ways.

The Indians squashed Eau Claire 15-0 behind the two-hit pitching of Rick Thomas, while the Lakers managed to slip past Berrien Springs 1-0. The win qualifies Hartford for the pre-district tournament.

In one other conference game yesterday, Galien outlasted Bridgman 13-0.

Thomas raised his conference pitching record to a perfect 11-0 with the win over the Beavers in five innings. Hartford is now 11-1 in the league, one game up on Lake Michigan Catholic. The teams clash next Thursday.

The sneaky-fast Thomas gave

Lakeshore Girls Roll By Eddies

Lakeshore banded Edwardsburg its first loss in girls softball Friday as the Lakers made off with an 11-4 victory.

Winning pitcher Patty Hoge fired five strikeouts and had a double and three RBIs. Kim Foster had a two-RBI homer, Val Vincent socked a triple and single, Jodi Rabbers had a double and two singles.

Lakeshore now owns a 12-4 record with two regular season games to go.

Eau Claire Wins

Narkay Vladic hit a homer and double while Tammy Vladic and Kathy Rodell hit homers to power the Eau Claire girls over Hartford 25-10 in a softball game Thursday. Tammy Vladic was the winning batter.

up a triple and single to losing pitcher Don Mann...who was the only Beaver to make it to third base. He did it twice.

The highly-touted Hartford hurler had 13 strikeouts and walked nobody. Thomas socked a three-run homer and a triple, while Brad Flowers launched a two-run four bagger.

Bob DeFord had a double and triple, Duane Toney a triple for the Indians who punched across six runs in the fourth inning. The Indians pounded 11 hits. Eau Claire is now 5-7 in the conference.

Laker pitcher Gary Meek allowed just one hit—a seventh inning single by leadoff hitter Tony Sammons. Meek is now 5-1 in the league with a 1.60 ERA. The Lake Michigan team ERA is a slim 1.61. Laker pitching has given up just eight hits the past four games.

Jim Elter sacrificed in the winning run in the third inning and also went two-for-three. The Lakers had five hits.

For the 5-7 Shamrocks it was another heart breaker since they have now been involved in nine one-run games. Losing pitcher Bary Adams fanned seven and didn't allow a single walk. Berrien had two players reach second.

Dale Luther had 14 strikeouts in notching the mound win for the Gaels. However, he also walked 10 batters—five of whom scored.

Luther, Bob Payne, Randy Chase, Matt Koziel and Mark Koziel each had two hits apiece. Mike Koziel also had two hits, including a three RBI homer. The Gaels had 14 hits.

Losing pitcher Jeff Runser had three of the nine Bee hits. John Jones socked a double and a single. Both teams are 4-8 in the league.

Michigan, MSU Win Twin Bills Big Ten Crown On Line

From Associated Press
The Big Ten Conference baseball championship was to be determined today, the final day of competition, with conference leader Michigan hosting Wisconsin and second-place Michigan State facing Northwestern.

In conference action Friday, Michigan blanked Northwestern twice to capture both ends of a doubleheader, 7-0 and 8-0. The Wolverine batters clobbered the Wildcats for 24 hits. Junior right-hander Chuck Rogers picked up the win in the first game, holding Northwestern to four hits and striking out 10. In the nightcap, Mark Weber gave up only five hits and fanned seven.

The victories move Michigan's conference record up to 11-3, while Northwestern's dropped to 3-11.

Only one-half game behind in the standings was Michigan State, which swept a doubleheader Friday from Wisconsin, 5-4 and 3-2. The Spartans' record now stands at 10-3, and Wisconsin, which was eliminated from the race with the losses, now has a 9-7 record.

The Spartans won both games with two outs and the bases loaded in the final inning. In the first game, the winning run was scored by catcher Rick Seld, who came home from third on an error by Badgers' third-baseman Larry Donnitz.

In the nightcap, first-baseman Howard Schryer scored the winning run on a wild pitch by Wisconsin's Bob Jeffers.

In other action Friday, strong relief pitching by Craig Cordt and a three-run home run by Greg Fetter helped Iowa to a 10-3 second-game victory and a sweep of a doubleheader over Purdue.

The wins gave Iowa a 9-3 conference record, while the Bollermakers' dropped to 1-13.

Minnesota kept alive its faint hopes for a third straight conference championship with a sweep of a doubleheader from Illinois. The Gobbers bombarded Illinois 10-1 in the first game behind the five-hit pitching of Steve Comer.

In the nightcap, Perry Bauer blanked the Illini 4-0 on a three-hitter.

From Associated Press
And now, welcome to baseball's newest mystery show, "What's My Lineup." Jack McKeon, sign in, please.

The manager of the Kansas City Royals signed in at Boston's Fenway Park Friday night. That is, he signed his lineup card. In fact, he signed several of them. But the batting order he handed to umpire Bill Deegan wasn't the same one the Royals used to beat the Red Sox 5-2 on the lineup card McKeon turned in, he had Amos Otis batting third. But when the game began there was Otis in the No. 2 spot. And he came up with a key single in Kansas City's three-run third inning, with two runs scoring on the hit and an ensuing error by left fielder Bernie Carbo.

"I made out three or four lineup cards," said McKeon. "I must have turned in the wrong one."

The incident left the Boston faces as red as their Sox. Had Manager Darrell Johnson protested, Otis would have been called out and the runners ordered back to first and third. And since Hal McRae followed with a ground-rule double, the Royals would have scored only one run in the inning instead of three.

"I didn't have their lineup card," Johnson explained. "I never got one in this ballpark. We make four copies. The visiting manager keeps one, the plate umpire one and two go upstairs to the press box."

Dennis Leonard earned his first major league victory for the Royals with a five-hit and Jim Wohlford tripped home two more runs in the fourth inning.

Elsewhere in the American League, the Milwaukee Brewers downed the Minnesota Twins 3-1, the Oakland A's tripped the New York Yankees 4-2, the Texas Rangers thumped the Detroit Tigers 10-3, the California Angels nipped the Baltimore Orioles 3-2 after dropping the opener 1-0 and the Chicago White Sox edged the Cleveland Indians 3-2 with three runs in the bottom of the ninth.

The Brewers bunched all five of their hits in the fourth inning. After Dave Goltz retired the first nine Milwaukee batters, Don Money opened the fourth inning with a single and scored the tying run on a double by Bill Sharp. Bobby Mitchell's single made it 2-1 and George Scott also singled. After Hank Aaron filled out, Darrell Porter delivered a run-scoring single.

Vida Blue became the first eight-game winner in the majors by hurling a seven-hitter for his sixth consecutive triumph. Billy Williams drove in the tying run in the fifth inning with a long sacrifice fly on which he was robbed of a possible homer and then doubled to set up the go-ahead run in the seventh.

Tommy Harper hit his first two homers of the season, driving in all the runs as the Angels won the second game behind Ed Figueroa's three-hitter. The Orioles took the opener when Bobby Grich lined his sixth home run of the season off the left field foul pole with two out in the ninth inning to back Jim Palmer's nine-hit pitching.

Cleveland's Jim Keri had a three-hitter and a 2-0 lead when he walked Bill Melton to start the ninth and Tom Buskey relieved him. Singles by Deron Johnson and Tony Muser got one run home and a single by Bucky Dent loaded the bases.

Dave LaRoche replaced Buskey and struck out Bill Stein but Dennis Eckersley took over when Buddy Bradford batted for Pat Kelly. Bradford was hit with a pitch, forcing in the tying run, and Jorge Orta walked, pushing home the winner.

Errors Aid Decatur In League Win

Decatur took over sole possession of second place in the SAC baseball race with a 9-1 victory over Marcellus Friday.

First place Bloomingdale turned back Martin 6-3, while Gobles downed Lawton Thursday, 11-2.

Eight Marcellus errors aided the Raider cause. The winners outthrew the opposition 11 to six. Jim Overley notched the pitching win, getting five strikeouts.

Terry Penning socked two singles good for three RBIs for Decatur, while teammate Kurt Wiese also banged a pair of singles. Decatur is 6-2 in the league, Marcellus 4-4.

Marcellus got its three runs in the fourth after Decatur pitching issued five walks.

Tim Hoyt and Steve Allen hurled a one-hitter for Bloomingdale giving up just one single. Hoyt got the win working the last three and two-third innings, while the save went to Allen. The lone single was off Hoyt.

Mike Stone hit a double and single for the RBIs for the winners, while Bob Lindsey also had a double and single.

Larry Gilbert twirled a three-hitter for Gobles and fanned eight batters.

Mark Walburn and Jim Hansen each went three-for-three for the winners, while Kevin Page had two hits in two trips. Kevin Burke stroked a double for Lawton.

Gobles is 3-4 in the league, Lawton 0-4.

Profit-Taking Snaps Five-Week Boom In Market

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market withstood the uncertainties posed by the Cambodian capture of a U.S. merchant ship this past week, only to give way to profit taking after the situation was resolved. The result was a generally mild decline that snapped a five-week chain of advances on the New York Stock Exchange. The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials posted a 12.52 decline to 837.81, due largely to an 11.19 drop in Friday. Standard & Poor's 50-stock index dipped .19 to 80.43, and the Big Board's composite index of more than 1,500 common issues eased .62 to 47.86.

By one measure, the market was still getting further mileage out of the rally of the past five months — advances outnumbered declines over all, 955 to 821 among the 2,007 issues changing hands on the NYSE. But prices clearly were struggling against resistance from forces built into the market. With their climb into the mid-800s in the Dow, analysts pointed out, many stocks had moved back into a range where a good deal of buying had occurred last year on the way down.

So investors with a "get out even" philosophy were in a position to inhibit further market gains, at least for the moment. In the grip of such technical influences, the market seemed indifferent to either good or bad news all week.

On Monday, when news of the seizing of the cargo ship Mayaguez reached Wall Street, the Dow dropped only 2 points. The next two days, during which fire was exchanged by U.S. planes and Cambodians, prices actually gained.

But on Thursday, when the container ship was back in U.S. hands after a military operation that the Pentagon called highly successful, the market turned downward.

And Friday, with a discount rate reduction by the Federal Reserve Board and some prime-rate cuts at major banks working for it, the market had its worst day of the week.

One news development that did appear to have its logical effect however, was an unfavorable assessment from Xerox Corp. on Thursday of its earnings prospects for the rest of the year.

Xerox shares fell 7 1/2 that day and wound up the week with a 7 1/2 loss at 70 1/2.

In all, 400 issues hit new highs for the year; just only 24 new lows.

Now Speeders Pay Fines Just By Saying 'Charge It'

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — Next time you get stopped for a traffic ticket in Waterford Township, just tell the cop to charge it.

The 51st District Court in Waterford Township now is accepting Master Charge credit cards to pay off traffic tickets, other fines and court costs in the criminal division, according to Judge Kenneth Hempstead.

"We've noticed for a long time that there are some people who come to court who just don't have the cash to meet the demands of the court," Hempstead said.

"This is especially true of women who, perhaps, haven't told their husband about a traffic ticket they got and would like to put off breaking the news."

The next step, according to Waterford Township officials, is to extend Master Charge to include bond.

Waterford is not the first court to try using the credit plan. It was first used in Michigan by the 61st District Court in Grand Rapids.

James Farrar, administrator for the Grand Rapids court, says $2,968 in fines and fees were charged in the 61st District last year.

"We figured the rest of the world lives on plastic so why shouldn't we?" Farrar said.

Ask Them Yourself

Want to ask a famous person a question? Send the question on a postcard, to "Ask," Family Weekly, 641 Lexington Ave., New York, N.Y. 10022. We'll pay $5 for published questions. Sorry, we can't answer others.

FOR WARREN BEATTY

currently starring in "Shampoo"

FAMILY WEEKLY recently ran one of the rare interviews with you. Why don't you give more interviews? Also, why do you admire women like Germaine Greer, whom so many men find offensive?—T. A. Beale, Louisville, Ky.

● I get a little uneasy talking about myself. The story of my movie career is not very different from any other actor's movie experiences, and I can't see that the idiosyncrasies of one actor are all that much more interesting than another actor's. It's easier to talk about someone else or a political problem that matters. As for Germaine Greer, I like her simply because she is smart and a lot of fun. But I admire other women too. I hate to list things, but if I were to make a list of women I most admire, it would include: (politics) Golda Meir, Eleanor McGovern, Bella Abzug and Cissy Farenthold; (arts) Lillian Hellman; and (music) Mabel Mercer.

FOR JIM HARTZ of the NBC-TV "Today" show

Why do guests on your show have bloodshot eyes (you and Barbara Walters don't). Is it because they haven't had enough sleep?—W. M. Chamberlain, Grand Rapids, Mich.

● To tell you the truth, I never noticed it. But I suppose it is a bit of a strain on some people who aren't used to getting up that early and making sense at that hour. And I wouldn't be at all surprised if one or two bloodshot eyes might not be the result of some artificial courage taken the night before by an especially nervous visitor.

FOR MARGARET MEAD

Do you believe in UFO's?—Laurence Mills, Hobart, Ind.

● Believing in UFO's simply means I believe that "unidentified flying objects" have been reported, for which we do not have any satisfactory explanation. It doesn't mean a UFO is a flying saucer or a visitor from outer space. When man-made vehicles like Mariner 10 leave our solar system, they become UFO's to the possible inhabitants of other solar systems. Those who do not believe in UFO's think they have a satisfactory explanation for objects that other observers believe are unexplained.

FOR CARLA HILLS,

Secretary of Housing and Urban Development

I read that your husband said he is more bothered by your beating him at tennis than by your being considered a better lawyer. Is this true?—D.B., Atlantic City, N.J.

● The comment was made by my husband in jest and was meant to indicate that he is not at all bothered by my achievements as a lawyer. Actually, he's one of the finest lawyers I've ever met, and his comment underscores his security. As for tennis, we play for fun, mostly doubles.

FOR MICKEY ROONEY

Judy Garland was quoted as saying that Louis B. Mayer gave sleeping pills and pep pills to her, you and Deanna Durbin when you did the "Andy Hardy" movies. True?—Sharon Greening, Crown Point, Ind.

● False. That was a figment of Miss Garland's imagination, which was quite extensive. Mr. Mayer was not in the habit of breaking the law. I hope this puts an end—finally—to this much-repeated untruth.

FOR BOB BARKER

What do you do when someone freezes up before the camera?—Pershing D. Berry, Jr., Amherst, Va.

● I thaw them out—how I go about that depends on the personality of the person. Gentleness works with most people.

FOR BRENDA VACCARO

Please settle an argument. What's the correct pronunciation of your name?—G.O.A., Toms River, N.J.

● I'm glad you asked that. It's Vac-CAR-o, with the emphasis on the "Car" bit. I got so excited the first time someone said it right and began to feel I was getting somewhere at last. But I'm happy if they at least spell my name with two "c's."

FOR ARNOLD PALMER

Will you hang up your golf shoes if your losing streak continues through 1975?—Robert Barney, San Antonio, Texas

● No, I don't intend to drop off the tour if I don't win a tournament this year, unless I then feel that I am not playing well enough to win. Right now, I feel that I am playing well enough to win.

FOR DON RICKLES

What was your most ego-shattering experience?—H.C., Daytona Beach, Fla.

● When I walked out on a Las Vegas stage and saw Frank Sinatra in the audience—reading a paper! He later told me he was there to see the singer who shared the bill with me.

FOR THE ASK THEM YOURSELF EDITOR

My teenaged daughter insists my kind of music (soft ballroom and Dixieland jazz) will never return. What do you think?—S.S., Elmira, N.Y.

● Well, Lena Horne, Johnny Mathis, Peggy Lee, Sinatra, etc., seem to be doing all right. When Herb Alpert opened at Harrah's in Lake Tahoe, his Dixieland numbers got the biggest ovation. At New York's Roseland Dance City, more people than ever are tangoing, fox-trotting and waltzing. Also in New York, the famed Rainbow Room just reverted to old-fashioned ballroom dancing. Cashing in on the jazz bandwagon, Eddie Condon's jazz nightclub (carrying on the traditions of the late legendary musician) just opened. Billy Daniels reports the bulk of his concert audiences are younger folk, not those of his own generation. As icing on the cake, piano manufacturers Steinway & Sons state production has risen over the last decade.

Dr. Joyce Brothers On a Strange Truth: You Don't Have to Be Kidnapped to Have A "Captive" Mind

By Dr. Joyce Brothers
Especially for FAMILY WEEKLY

Patty Hearst in 1972. Dr. Brothers says that when we become "captives," our whole psychology changes.

"Everyday life has plenty of captor-captive relationships—none as frantic as a kidnapping, to be sure. But the way they work on our 'beliefs' is very much the same."

A few months ago it seemed beyond comprehension to most Americans that Patty Hearst, the kind of young woman who spent time carefully choosing her china pattern as she happily prepared for her June wedding, could voluntarily make common cause with the Symbionese Liberation Army.

Many people, including her parents, William Randolph and Catherine Hearst, expressed the belief that the young heiress had been brainwashed into cooperating with her captors. How else, they argued, could such a complete change of values take place?

As I write this, it's still impossible to say exactly what happened in the Patty Hearst case. But one thing does seem clear: If Patty Hearst's views were changed—and even changed drastically—she wasn't much different from the rest of us. Because, perhaps shockingly, when we become "captives," our whole psychology changes and we become susceptible to ideas that may never have occurred to us before. And here's the eye-opening truth: We don't have to be kidnapped to test the validity of this proposition. Everyday life has plenty of captor-captive relationships—none as frantic as a kidnapping, to be sure. But the way they work on our "beliefs" is very much the same.

If we put aside the word "brainwashing" in its highly sophisticated sense and begin to think in terms of "identifying" with one's captors—absorbing their values, ideas and attitudes and making them one's own, incorporating them into oneself—then we begin to understand what may very well have happened in the case of Patty Hearst.

And if we think of the captor-captive relationship in the broader terms of our own lives, we begin to get some insights into the reasons why kidnapping victims are so willing to "cooperate" with their captors.

It may seem odd to think that all of us are somewhat and in some way in a captive-captor relationship. But we are—and in no uncertain sense.

As infants and small children, we are, in a way, captives of our parents. We are totally helpless and totally dependent on them for our survival. All children learn at a very young age

Dr. Brothers says that all of us "are somewhat and in some way in a captive-captor relationship."

that they must please and in some way "cooperate" with their parents. Throughout our lives we tend to reflect in many ways and to a surprising degree the likes, dislikes, values, attitudes and opinions of our parents. We've absorbed them, incorporated them into ourselves and made them our own.

Anyone who has power over us—and it doesn't have to be anything as drastic or fundamental as the power of life and death—has the power to shape our views, our outlook and our behavior. Cooperating with those who have power over us, placating them, diminishing friction between them and ourselves and adopting their views and attitudes—these are some of the ways of insuring our survival and our general well-being. And they stem directly from the child-parent relationship.

Each of us is both a captive and a captor. In one relationship we may be the captor; in another, the captive. As captives we try to please our captors and wind up not only adopting their ideas and attitudes but believing in them with utmost sincerity. Though we start out playing a role, talking and behaving as though we think and feel a certain way, after a while we really begin to feel the emotion, we really begin to think the thought.

As captors we are able, to varying degrees, to "brainwash" others, to impress on them our views, ideas, attitudes, likes and dislikes. We are able to change their feelings and their minds.

Studies show that the "kid-glove" treatment works best. The more gently we deal with those we wish to influence, the more successful we are in achieving our goal. Severe punishment or the threat of punishment works only when the punisher is around. The captive, in any situation, is more likely to internalize the captor's ideas and

"As captives we try to please our captors and wind up not only adopting their ideas and attitudes but believing in them with utmost sincerity. Though we start out playing a role . . . , after a while we really begin to feel the emotion, we really begin to think the thought."

values and make them his own if they are presented in a gentle, temperate way.

We also know that it's important to keep a certain physical distance from those we wish to influence. The salesman who sticks his foot in the door and seems to be lunging at us doesn't influence us much, no matter how good his spiel, because we're too busy coping with the anxiety he arouses in us by his invasion of our privacy and intrusion on our territory to listen to his message. The ideal distance, studies show, from which to influence others is 15 feet.

Feeding someone as we make suggestions and put forth our views makes him or her more susceptible to being influenced by us, to having his mind, feelings and behavior changed by us.

In a recent study students were divided into two groups. One group was served lunch while the psychologist put forth certain views with which the students did not generally agree. The other group was presented with the same views but was not fed. The group that had been fed while listening tended afterward to concur more with the psychologist's views than the group that had not been fed. This, of course, will come as no surprise to those who regularly take prospective clients and contacts whom they wish to influence or "sell" to fancy restaurants for lunch or dinner. They know it pays off!

Let's look a little more closely at a few of the studies that show that the "kid-glove" approach works best when you wish to shape someone's views, outlook or behavior.

In a recent study children were shown some toys. Some of the toys were very attractive; others, not so attractive. One group of children was sternly threatened with punishment if they played with the attractive toys. The other group was given gentle suggestions and reasons as to why they should not play with the attractive toys. The children who'd been strongly admonished and threatened fell in love, so to speak, with the forbidden toys and sneaked over to play with them when the experimenter was out of the room. The children who'd been gently admonished, incorporated the idea into themselves, made it their own and didn't even want the forbidden toys.

The temperate treatment is highly effective during wartime too. It's been observed countless times that when a captive insists on giving only his name, rank and serial number, there is more likelihood that he can be made to change his mind if his captors treat him gently than if they use harsh, coercive measures.

Here's another example from a recent study. Little Billy likes to hit his baby brother. Dad threatens to punish Billy if he hits the baby.

What happens? When Dad is around Billy doesn't hit the baby. When Dad leaves, Billy tries to beat the dickens out of Baby Brother. Little Johnny also likes to beat his baby brother. But Johnny's Dad quietly and gently explains the reasons why it's wrong to hit the baby—You'll hurt him, he'll cry, he's weaker than you, etc. The study shows clearly that Johnny will incorporate or internalize the idea and not hit his little brother even when left alone with him.

We've all noticed that during political primaries people will rally around the candidate of their choice and sincerely believe in and proclaim his virtues and effectiveness. But once the primary is over and one candidate is nominated, opposition voters may well find themselves sincerely dedicated to him, sincerely finding reasons to believe in and proclaim his virtues and effectiveness. In a sense, such a voter has become a captive, finding a way to deal with or live with what he must live with. What's more, this is not done hypocritically, but with genuine and sincere enthusiasm.

There's a captor-captive relationship between husband and wife, though it isn't always clear who's captor and who's captive. Perhaps both are both.

Couples don't realize how much they've co-operated and incorporated each other's values, attitudes, ideas, likes and dislikes, so that they have come to feel the same way about so many things. In fact, in many areas they eventually come to feel as one.

It's when the Smiths meet the Joneses on a cruise and realize that they, the Smiths, generally speaking, think and feel as one—We don't like that, we always enjoy doing this, we never do that, etc.—that they sense how much they have incorporated each other's thinking, desires, opinions, outlook, behavior, will and wants. The Joneses have also done this, and the two couples will get along just fine if there is not great divergence in their attitudes.

"There's a captor-captive relationship between husband and wife, though it isn't always clear who's captor and who's captive. Perhaps both are both."

Sometimes there's a great conflict between what your conscience believes and what someone else, someone who has power over you, wants you to believe. Let's say a school-bus driver knows the bus is unsafe because his boss, the owner of the bus, refuses to maintain the vehicle properly. The driver keeps warning his boss about the danger and the boss keeps saying, "It's okay, stop worrying, nothing's going to happen." This may be so severely against the driver's conscience that he will simply walk out even though he may need the job badly.

But studies clearly show that in most situations where we are captives, our beliefs, views and behavior can be influenced and changed by those who have power over us. One need look no further than the case of the students who were fed while the psychologist presented them with his views and ideas. In the space of time it takes to eat a nice lunch a decided modification in their thinking took place.

The whole idea that we can be deeply influenced and our minds changed by those who have power over us becomes less shocking and alien when we are aware of such studies. But the best understanding of the captive-captor psychology and how it works comes from a closer look at our everyday, taken-for-granted relationships.

Jimmy Connors Talks About Big Money, Big Pressure and "The Killer Instinct"

"I don't like guys going around saying they beat Jimmy Connors. I'm going to do everything I can to stop that. I just don't like to lose. The killer instinct is part of the game. ..."

Art Zelin/Globe

Fred Robbins is also an interviewer for the Mutual Radio Network.

FAMILY WEEKLY: How did you get so good so young?

CONNORS: I think I just wanted to become a good player and worked hard for it. I was coached by my mother and my grandmother until I was 16, and then my mom said I needed something that she couldn't give me, so she sent me to California to be with Pancho Segura. He was over in Wimbledon with me when I won last year, and he was at Forest Hills with me too. So I've had some pretty good coaching.

FW: You blew Kenny Rosewall off the court in the final at last year's Wimbledon and again at Forest Hills. How did you feel about that?

CONNORS: I was just glad to get a chance to play him. He's a legend in his own time. The guy is such a great guy and a great sport—well, it was just an honor to play against him.

FW: How do you stand up under that kind of pressure? I mean, here you are, only 22, and you're in the finals of the biggest tournaments of them all—and everybody's rooting for the other guy! That's got to be pretty tough, doesn't it?

CONNORS: I don't know—I'm very relaxed. I go out and practice and I take a shower and then sometimes I go up and clown around and talk with Pancho and his wife and my mom and Chrissy [Chris Evert] and I'm just—well, relaxed!

FW: Don't you ever feel pressure? Don't you ever get nervous in front of a crowd?

CONNORS: Yeah, I think when I first started playing in the men's, crowds bothered me. When I played doubles with Pancho Segura in California and people would be watching, or when I played as a doubles partner with Pancho Gonzales about five years ago. Everybody would come around and say, "Gonzales is playing. But who's the kid playing with him?" It bothered me.

FW: How aware are you of the crowd? Do they affect your game at all?

CONNORS: Sometimes. I think most of the time they maybe want the other guy to win. When they're cheering against me, I want to make them realize I'm out there. I want to show them that they're not going to bother me one way or the other.

FW: Do you care about whether you please the crowd or not?

CONNORS: Well, it's nice to have 16,000 people in the stadium cheering for you. But if they don't—when 16,000 people are cheering against you—well, then suddenly you're the underdog. Anyway, I know that there are a few people in the stands who want to see me win. I just go out and try to win and please them.

FW: Your mom was a pretty good player wasn't she?

CONNORS: Yeah, she played the Pan American cup with Pancho Segura. In fact, Pancho almost became my dad! Maybe that's why I play like him—two hands on the racket and a little pigeon-toed. I don't know.

FW: Did you pattern yourself after him?

CONNORS: Not really. I had everything before. But when I went to Pancho, he took everything I had and improved it and added more shots to my repertoire. He also improved, my mental outlook. He just made me a better player.

FW: Some parents always say to their kids, "Now go practice the piano," or "Go play your violin." Is that what your parents did with tennis?

CONNORS: No, I was never pressured into playing. They always said, "Will you play tennis today?" And I say, "Okay." And if I said, "No," they'd say, "Okay, go study or go play baseball or whatever." But I was never pressured. But when I went to California, I felt I had to prove myself to Pancho. That's when I started to want to be great, so that he wouldn't say, "Ah, here comes another young punk." So I worked very hard, and luckily he took an interest in me.

FW: They say you have the "killer instinct." Where did that come from?

CONNORS: I don't like guys going around saying they beat Jimmy Connors. I'm going to do everything I can to stop that. I just don't like to lose. The killer instinct is part of the game, you know. I can't say that it came from my mom or it came from Pancho or it came from anybody. It's just myself.

FW: Was Wimbledon your sweetest victory?

CONNORS: Well, I think before I won Wimbledon, winning the Pacific Southwest Championship in 1973 was one of my best victories. Also, winning the U.S. Pro Championships in 1973. I was unseeded, and I played Stan Smith in the first round and beat him, then I beat Arthur Ashe in the final. So I think I've had a lot of sweet victories and a lot of bad defeats. That's part of the game too. It's called hard knocks. You're going to win a lot and you're going to lose a lot. And if you keep the losses down to a minimum, I guess you're going to be the best player.

FW: Do you try to analyze your losses afterward?

CONNORS: Ah, I think that's a way to drive yourself insane. I think about a loss maybe five or ten minutes after I play, then I'm finished. Once I leave the courts I try to be finished with tennis.

FW: Jimmy, I'm going to mention various names and I'd like to get your reaction to them. Stan Smith, for example.

CONNORS: Before I start answering this I

We could all use less friction.

Friction? Who needs it? Friction leads to wear and tear.

STP Oil Treatment does something about friction by helping to protect your engine from it. Just add a can to the crankcase when the oil is changed, and the first time it's down.

That'll help the oil lubricate better than it would without STP. And a well lubricated motor is the best way to help reduce oil consumption, bearing wear and prolong engine life.

Try a can of STP Oil Treatment. See what driving's like when everything's running smoothly.

should tell you that I play everybody more or less the same until I get into a situation where I have to change my game. Stan is a player with a big serve and volley, you know. I don't think he feels as comfortable on the base line as he does at the net, so I like to keep Stan on the base line if I can. But you know, all these guys like Stan and Newcombe and Laver and Ashe are great players, and whether I say I'm going to do this against Stan or I'm going to do that against Arthur, maybe when I get out there I'll play a completely different game because the situation calls for a reversal of my attitude. It all depends on how the other guy's playing that day and on how I'm playing.

FW: How about Newcombe? [At press time, Connors was still preparing for his $250,000 match with John Newcombe at Caesars Palace in Las Vegas.]

CONNORS: He serves big. You know, you get the ball in play against anybody and you know

FW: Do you think people hate you, Jimmy?

CONNORS: No. I don't think so. I don't know. Some people, maybe. But you know, if they don't like me, that's okay. What I do is what I feel, and I'm not going to change my views just to please 20 guys or to make them like me.

FW: But the press is always saying how disliked you are. Why has that happened and how do you feel about it?

CONNORS: Well, maybe if I'd lose more they'd like me. Somebody said that to me in Stockholm in 1973. They said, "Connors, why don't you lose more so you'd have some friends?" I said, "If that's what it takes to get friends, I don't need you, boy." And I really don't. I'd rather have a couple of true friends than guys who are friends to my face and grab me from behind.

Take the Army ROTC Two-Year Program.

If you've just about completed your second year of college, and you're planning on two more, it's not too late to take Army ROTC.

You start the program with six-weeks of Basic Camp (you'll be paid for it) between your sophomore and junior years.

Then it's back to school in the fall. Learning how to become an Army officer while you're working on your college degree. Earning an extra $100 a month, up to ten months a year.

And two years later, you'll graduate with your degree, your commission as an Army officer, and some real experience at leading and managing people.

The last two years of college mean a lot. Take the Army ROTC Two-Year Program and you can make them mean a lot more.

his odds of winning the point, and your odds of winning the point. With a serve like his, he lowers the other guy's odds.

FW: Your fellow southpaw Roscoe Tanner seems to have come into his own this year. How do you feel about playing against other left-handers?

CONNORS: It doesn't matter. Playing Roscoe is like playing myself, so I just go out and look over the net and say, "Lord, I'm playing Jimmy Connors!" It's no big problem.

FW: Do you think a lefty has an advantage over a right-handed player?

CONNORS: A five percent advantage, I think. Not more than that.

FW: They say this is going to be the decade of either Bjorn Borg of Sweden or Jimmy Connors. What do you think?

CONNORS: Maybe the decade of both. Bjorn is great. Maybe we'll be clawing at each other for the next ten years.

FW: What about Ilie Nastase?

CONNORS: He's one of the hardest guys for me to play. It's because of the way he plays—his top spin and the way he moves. The guy has so much talent. I've played him a number of times, and I think he's the only one who has a real advantage over me.

FW: Does the amount of money that you're earning at this age make you uptight at all?

CONNORS: Not really. I'm working now so that when I'm 30 or 35 I don't really have to do anything if I don't want to. I'll have what my grandmother always used to call a pillow that I can lean on. Maybe when I'm 35 I'll still want to play some tournaments, but it won't be like I'll have to keep winning. I can just do what I want.

FW: Jimmy, you've been very involved with Chris Evert. There's been a lot of publicity on that, and I'm not going to pry into it any further. But I would like to know one thing: What are your views on women's tennis and the idea of women earning as much money as men in tennis?

CONNORS: It's okay with me. There is one thing, though. We play three out of five sets, the women play two out of three sets. But after all, men are supposed to be bigger and stronger, so I guess that's all right too. In their way, women are playing just as hard as we are. So if they can get equal prize money, that's super.

Veteran Pancho Gonzales And Top Newcomers on Connors

No question about it—Jimmy Connors is the dominant figure in tennis today. Challengers like Newcombe and Laver may be able to beat him on a given day—but, like Nicklaus in golf or Ali in boxing, Connors is the man challengers have to measure themselves against.

FAMILY WEEKLY went to veteran Pancho Gonzales (and, to four "young Turks" who are currently assaulting the top stars. We asked them, "Is Jimmy Connors unbeatable?" Here is what they answered:

PANCHO GONZALES: "I Know How Jimmy Feels—He Reminds Me a Lot of Me!"

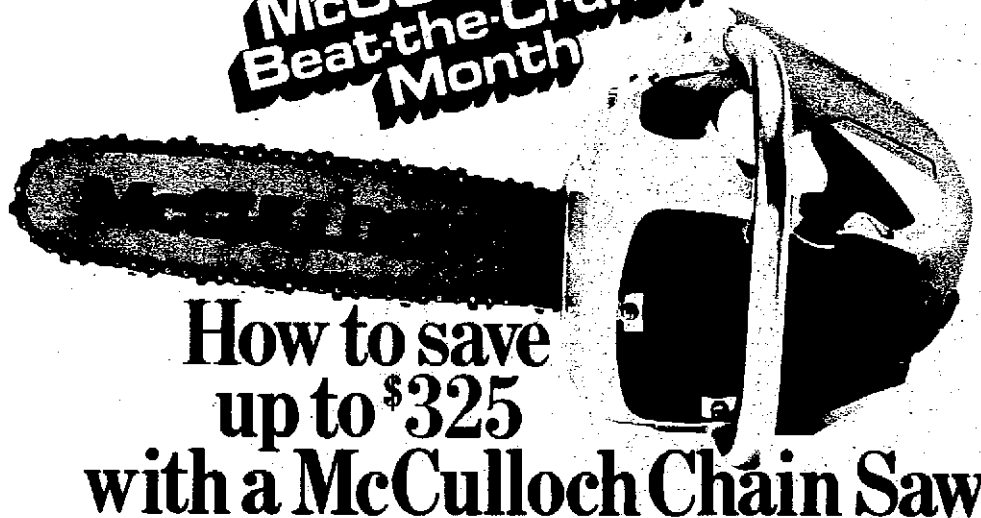

Kevin Fitzgerald/Sport

FAMILY WEEKLY went to one "oldster" of tennis, Pancho Gonzales, and asked him how "unbeatable" he thought Connors was. Gonzales dominated professional tennis in the 1950's, and even into the 1960's. Many fans place him on the same pedestal as former greats Bill Tilden and Don Budge. Gonzales, who just turned 47, is now director of tennis at Caesars Palace in Las Vegas. Here's Gonzales on Connors:

"A lot of people think young Connors is arrogant and cocky. That's just the way I was when I was young. I won Forest Hills for the first time when I was 20 and again when I was 21. And I guess you could say I had a hot temper. I had a hot temper when I was in my early forties, too, but now I've mellowed because I don't play the tournament circuit any more.

"No player's unbeatable. There are champions in all eras and there are great players who constantly challenge those champions. Of course, tennis has changed in many respects since I took up the game as a boy in the public parks of Los Angeles in the early 1940's. Even youngsters have professional coaching today. Parents spend a lot of money on equipment and coaching for their children, and Connors had a "Consistency is the big test of tennis greatness. Let's see how Connors does for a few years before we call him the greatest or anything like that."

Alex (Sandy) Mayer, 23, is a native of Wayne, N.J. In 1973, while still a student at Stanford University, he paid his own way to Wimbledon and astounded the "Jimmy Connors is the best in the game at returning serve and at attacking the ball. He may be the best ever in both of these categories, that's how good he is. He's pretty far ahead of everyone else right now.

"I've probably played Connors more than any of the other young players. We came up at the same time as juniors, and I remember beating him only once, in the National 14's [for players 14 years old and under] in Chattanooga, Tenn.

"Good tennis players are crawling out of the woodwork all over the world. It's not like in the old days. Tennis is a good career for young athletes now, although it takes about six years for a young player to find out whether he's good enough to make a career out of it. This is where tennis is different from the other sports. A good natural athlete can go out and hit a baseball or catch a football without tremendous amounts of training. But learning the right timing and maneuvers to become a good tennis player requires a lot of work and preparation.

"Among the young players who'll be starting in tennis over the next few years, you have to include Bjorn Borg of Sweden and Guillermo Vilas of Argentina, both of whom are already among the world's top ten. Also Americans Roscoe Tanner, Dick Stockton, Brian Gottfried and Harold Solomon. I like to think that my younger brother Gene, who's now playing at Stanford, and I will be up there too."

Vitaz Gerulaitis, a shaggy-haired blond from Queens, N.Y., will turn 21 on July 28. A six-footer who weighs 155 pounds, he lost to Connors in the finals of the U.S. Indoors in 1974. He is a regular member of Bill Riordan's Independent Professional Association, the circuit on which Connors stars.

"Connors has become a tremendous player, no question about it. But you really can't call him, or anyone else, unbeatable. Last year, in a tournament in Salt Lake City, I was almost completely unknown and I made the finals against him. He was the heavy favorite. But I won the first set, 6-4, and was leading the second, 5-2, when he came back to win the match, 4-6, 7-6, 6-3. I mean, a couple of better shots by me and I would have won it.

"The best thing about Connors' game is that he attacks the ball so well. You have to try to keep him away from the net if you're going to have any chance to beat him. Of course, he's still improving, and since he's already Number One at the age of 22, this make it tough for the rest of us. But it also creates a challenge. There are too many strong players now for one player to dominate things all the time."

Warning: The Surgeon General Has Determined That Cigarette Smoking Is Dangerous to Your Health.

17 mg. "tar," 1.1 mg. nicotine, av. per cigarette, FTC Report, Oct. '74.

Here I am at 204 pounds. I not only had pudgy cheeks, but also heavy thighs and a bottom that was out of sight.

Now that I see these photographs of me side by side, I realize what a tremendous difference coming down to 138 pounds has made in my appearance. And I might add, it has completely changed my outlook on life.

The thought of wearing a bathing suit made me lose 66 pounds.

By Mavis Molina — as told to Ruth L. McCarthy

From my own personal experience, I know there's nothing quite like being lonely, homesick and snowbound to turn a person's appetite on. In my case, I ate everything in sight and wound up weighing 204 pounds.

You see, I'm English by birth, married to an American Air Force man. Happily for me, our first years together were spent "at home" near my parents. But soon after our third child was born, we were transferred to the States. We had hoped to be sent to Florida, because I love the sun and swimming so much. But instead, we ended up at an isolated base in North Dakota, and in the dead of winter.

I don't think I've ever felt so lonely or unhappy in my whole life. Not that the people were unfriendly. But drifts of snow separated the 18 houses on the base and instead of ploughing out to visit neighbors, I stayed indoors fussing over the children from December until almost June. I also spent the time trying to cure my homesickness with donuts, cake, cookies and candy bars.

I didn't have a scale or a full length mirror at the time. And although my jeans were getting tighter and tighter, I had no idea how big I really was until the summer thaw came. My parents had arrived for a visit about then, and one day we drove 35 miles into the nearest town for a look around. That's when I saw a reflection of myself in a store window. I was so huge, I nearly died. I'll tell you, the very thought of my getting into a bathing suit made me absolutely shudder.

Right then I knew that I had to take some action. So I walked into a drug store and bought a bathroom scale and a box of Ayds®, the chocolate mint kind. You see, while I was snowbound, I'd read those stories of people who'd lost weight on the Ayds plan. And since I'd learned that Ayds Reducing Plan Candy contains vitamins and minerals, but no drugs, I wasn't afraid to start on the plan the next day.

I took one or two Ayds before each meal with a hot drink, coffee for me, and they really helped me cut down on what I ate. For breakfast, I'd have an egg and sometimes bacon which I'd blot with a paper to remove the grease. At noon, I'd have Ayds and coffee and maybe a chef's salad. For dinner, I'd have my Ayds and coffee again, then eat what the rest of the family did, but much smaller portions. And in the evening, instead of a piece of cake, I'd have a couple more Ayds. Soon the weight started coming off. The first two weeks on the Ayds plan, I lost nearly eight pounds. Then I tapered off to two pounds a week and later one pound, until at the end of the year I'd lost 66 pounds.

I think I ought to mention that during the time I was losing weight, we moved from North Dakota to Panama City, Florida, which gave me even more incentive to reduce. You see, I couldn't stand the idea of being a fat blob on a beach full of bikini-slim women. But that Ayds plan worked beautifully for me and it brought a lot of sunshine into my life.

One last thing. And I say this for the benefit of people like me who overeat when they get upset. Ayds are marvelous for controlling your appetite, whether you want to lose a little weight or a lot. I know, because several months ago my husband went off on a special tour of duty and loneliness moved right in on me.

I immediately began to overeat and put on pounds again. But this time, thank goodness, I knew exactly what the Ayds plan could do for me. In very short order, it made my bathing suit look just great on me again.

UNDER-THE-SEA SALAD

- 1 pkg. (8 oz.) lime gelatin
- Water
- 2 cups cottage cheese

A Delicious Meat 'n' Potatoes Casserole

This week, Food Editor Marilyn Hansen prepares a good old-fashioned scalloped-potato casserole—with a variation. "By adding ham cubes and Cheddar cheese," says Marilyn, "you'll have a hearty main-dish casserole."

Make use of 1974's big potato harvest in this old-timey Meat 'n' Cheese Potato Casserole.

Crimp lettuce leaves.
Blue Cheese Dressing, your own or bottled

1. Make up gelatin according to package directions, using 2 cups boiling water and 1½ cups cold water. Refrigerate until partially thickened.

2. Pour or spoon half of partially thickened gelatin into 8x8-inch square pan. Top with cottage cheese. Pour remaining gelatin on top. Refrigerate until firm.
3. Cut in squares. Place each on lettuce leaf on individual plates. Top with Blue Cheese Dressing. Makes 6 servings

CRESCENT FRUIT DESSERT PIZZA

- 1 pkg. (8 oz.) refrigerated crescent rolls
- 1½-2 lbs. fresh pears, peeled and sliced*
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- ¼ cup sugar
- 1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
- 1 egg
- 1 cup sour cream
- Dash salt

1. Preheat oven to 375°F. Lightly grease a 10-inch pizza pan or pie pan.
2. Unroll crescent-roll dough, separate into triangles. Flatten triangles with fingers. Arrange triangles in pan in a circle. Use fingers to press dough together smoothly.
3. Toss pear slices with lemon juice; arrange on dough. Mix sugar and cinnamon, sprinkle over pears.
4. Bake 15 minutes, then remove from oven. Beat egg lightly with fork; stir in sour cream and salt.
5. Pour mixture on "pizza" and bake 10-15 minutes longer, until pears are tender and sour-cream mixture is set.
6. Cut into wedges. Serve warm or cool.

Makes 8 servings

*Or use 1 lb. apricot halves, drained, and 1 can (8 oz.) pineapple chunks, drained, or 1 can (1 lb. 12 oz.) peach or pear halves, drained.

CELLULITE is fatty deposits that have gone astray and are clinging to the most obvious parts of the woman's body. If left untreated, they create CELLULITE: Miracle Loofah Pad, complete beauty program, instructions showing you precisely the proper way to use it.

Sensual European Ladies Swear By It

They say the program turns your own bath into a full-fledged European Health Spa. International magazines say the plan effectively attacks problem areas, as it creates a sensually smooth skin. Other authorities say nothing can banish ugly Cellulite bumps except this treatment. Diets alone can't do it. Exercise can't do it. Even surgery can't do it!

So send the coupon now. You have nothing to lose but your embarrassing bumps. The complete Cellulite kit will be rushed to you by return mail. Use it for 10 days. You must be positively delighted with the results, or return the proof of purchase slip for a full refund — no questions asked. Remember, this program is not available in stores anywhere.

He finally ordered loofah to become the royal bath sponge. The Japanese and Europeans later adopted it.

Many doctors recommend loofah for its ability to stimulate the skin while the juice of loofah soothes the body.

READ WHAT WORLD RENOWNED AUTHORITIES SAY ABOUT CELLULITE:

French Health Magazine

"During my residence in Paris, I was intrigued by loofah, which, except in Europe, was not yet so much in vogue. The accompanying bag declared it excellent for cellulite, or peau d'orange — skin of an orange."

A Best Selling Book On Cellulite

"Surface friction brings nourishment to the skin. Wet or dry, the friction rub is equally effective."

Banish Those Cellulite Bumps Forever,

by Catherine Romain
"The loofah, a Swedish sponge or mitt, is an instrument of massage. This will smooth your skin, taking off the tiny outer layer and leaving you smooth as the proverbial baby."

The Fascinating Story of LOOFAH

Loofah belongs to the cucumber family and originated in India about 2000 years ago.

About 500 years ago, a Korean king, Sochong the Great, ordered his men to find a sponge strong enough to cleanse his body but gentle enough not to scratch his skin. It did not take very long for his men to find SUSEMI (Korean name for loofah).

ARMOUR'S ARMOURY

By Richard Armour

Friends we have who are always on time.
Lateness they think is a horrible crime.
We set our clocks by the hour they appear
And race to be ready so they'll not snore.

If the doorbell rings on the very dot,
We know who it is and who it is not.
For we've also friends, I am quick to state,
Who are always—and I mean always—late.

The punctual people make us rush—
If we're not quite dressed, we stammer and blush.
The ones who are late, although good as gold,
Make our nerves grow tense and the food grow cold.

What of us? We're the kind who cause most enragement,
Forgetting completely we had an engagement.

"And now, on the lighter side of the issue..."

What in the World!

HEPBURN & TRACY

Were they the "perfect couple"?

A great actress recalls why she and Spencer Tracy made such a winning film pair: "We were perfect representations of the American male and female. The woman is always pretty sharp, and she's needling the man, sort of slightly like a mosquito. The man is always coming along, and she needles, and then he slowly puts out his big paw and slaps the lady down, and that's attractive to the American public. He's the ultimate boss of the situation, and he's very challenged by her. It isn't an easy kingdom for him to maintain." From "Kate," by Charles Higham (W.W. Norton, $7.95).

BOB AND DOLPHIN FRIEND

The whale went "chomp"!

Proof that courage is a relative thing: One of Bob Shepard's routines at Sea World of Florida is to stick his head into the mouth of a 4,700-pound killer whale named Shamu. He does it every day, as well as riding on Shamu's back underwater and water-skiing with packs of dolphins. He had a close call once—Shamu brought his mouth down on Bob's head. "I just felt a sort of chomp on either side of my head, and then the whale opened his mouth again. I went on with the show. It wasn't until later that I realized I was in shock." Nevertheless, Bob contends that his job is not really dangerous. "As far as I'm concerned," he says, "a brave man is one who sky-dives or hang-glides or climbs mountains. I have a thing about heights. Don't ask me to climb a ladder and change your light bulb—I won't do it. But I'll be glad to ride your killer whale."

Famous European Design Scissors

The Scissors that are molded to your hand

- Cushion plastic handles with contour finger grip gives you more comfort and cutting freedom than you've ever experienced before.
- Stainless steel blades
- Cut paper in . . . patterns . . . fabrics with incredible ease.

Some time ago entirely new concepts in scissors came out of Europe. Scissors with a special cushioned handle anatomically designed to fit your hand. The comfort was incredible. You could cut through the most intricate curve, cut all kinds of materials, cut free hand into all kinds of designs or slip the scissors along the table for an even straight line cut. People who were used to the old fashioned kind of scissors couldn't imagine a pair of scissors working so efficiently and so effortlessly as this new design. Seamstresses and anyone who needed them knew they had discovered a secret. But originally scissors like these cost much more.

In fact, even today you can find similar designs selling for $10 or more in fine stores. But now we've captured the essence of these designs at a fantastically low price. "Shear Joy"! It's got the familiar colorful, cushion soft plastic handle, the stainless steel blades, weighs only 3 ounces, and they're 8 1/4" long.

If you thought there was nothing glamorous about a pair of scissors then wait until you've tried these. At this new low price you can't afford to be without them. Order now. If they are not shear joy, simply return for full money back.
